State Rests Case In Trial

Motion for Directed Verdict To Acquit Baldridge Denied

BULLETIN

Immediately after the State rested its case against George Baldridge at 1:23 P. M., the defense moved, first, for a directed verdict of acquittal and then for a reduction of the charge of second degree murder to manslaughter.

Both motions were denied by Judge John P. Case.

The State brought its case to a close with Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur as its last witness. He testified that Baldridge had told him, when he saw him in Washington C. H. the afternoon Patrick was killed, that he had not come in to give himself up to Sheriff Orland Hays.

* * *

The gun that fatally wounded Game Protector Irvin Patrick has a safety that must be released before the gun can be fired. And the gun is in "good functioning order."

That was the testimony of Joseph Martina, laboratory technician for the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation, in Thursday morning's session of the trial of George Baldridge.

Baldridge is charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Game Protector Patrick. Defense attorneys contend that the gun was discharged accidentally as Patrick and Baldridge fought over it.

Martina, next-to-last of the announced witnesses for the prosecution, followed Sheriff Orland Hays to the witness stand.

In cross - examining Martina, Defense Attorney Emory Smith demonstrated a method by which he said the safety of the gun could be released and the trigger fired in one motion.

After a battle between the attorneys for the state and the defense, Judge John P. Case banned "Further demonstrations of this kind."

The state argued the demonstration was invalid because, it said: (1) Smith made two separate motions when pulling the trigger, and (2) he used his thumb instead of his finger in most of the demonstrations.

* * *

MARTINA TESTIFIED that the shot that fatally wounded Patrick was fired from a distance "closer than three feet and over one foot," probably closer to one foot.

Smith asked if the barrel of the gun were pulled outward (as he claims Patrick was pulling on the gun when it was discharged), whether the ejection mechanism of the gun would be jammed.

Martina said he had tested the gun to learn just that. Such jamming is possible, but only with "exerted effort," he said.

He said he was unable, in his tests, to jam the gun by pulling on the barrel with one hand, but could jam it by securing the gun and pulling with a force "beyond normal."

Under direct examination by Prosecutor John Bath, Martina explained his training as a gun expert and the nature of his work.

Bath handed him the Baldridge shotgun for identification, and he immediately identified it as the gun he had received from Sheriff Hays, had examined and thoroughly tested it.

* *

HE FOUND no fingerprints worth while on the gun," he stated, and had examined the weapon as to its functioning, and found it in proper order.

"I made tests and found the only way the gun could be fired was by pulling the trigger", he said.

He said the safety mechanism was not defective but in good working order, and that the gun was in such good condition it would fire as well as any modern gun.

He produced a large cardboard showing pattern test shots, and this was admitted in evidence.

One of the holes through the cardboard had been made at one foot, one at three feet and one at six feet.

The one at one foot showed almost a clear cut hole ¾ of an inch in diameter. The one at three feet was somewhat larger with ragged edges made by spreading shot, and the one at six feet showed shot scattered over a three inch area, with a sizeable hole torn by the main charge of shot and wadding.

Martina explained the difference when shot strikes something like the cardboard, and human tissue, saying there was no stretching of the cardboard material, but was some in human tissue.

* * *

DEFENSE OBJECTED when the prosecutor questioned Martina regarding the wound mark shown in photographs, and the jury and witness were excused while the attorneys argued the question raised.

Defense counsel argued that the witness could not look at the pictures and tell the size of the hole, as he had not examined the wound himself.

Bath argued that the witness had been qualified as an expert and that he was not asking the witness to measure the holes, but he could give information regarding appearance of the wound and could compare it with the shot pattern.

Smith argued that what appears in the picture as a wound opening might be a blood clot, but Bath insisted that Dr. Reiff had testified as to the size of the wound.

After a short recess during which Judge Case examined the law, court was reconvened, and defense objections were overruled.

At the close of his direct examination, before the cross-examination began, Martina said the amount of pressure required to pull the trigger of the gun was "average," neither greater nor less than on most shotguns.

He then demonstrated the working of the safety on the gun, which is less than an inch in front of the trigger, inside the trigger guard.

Two distinct motions are required to fire the gun when the safety is on, he said: the trigger finger must move forward to release the safety, then back to squeeze the trigger.

A NUMBER of seats were vacant in the spectators gallery in the court room when the trial was resumed Thursday morning shortly after 10 A. M., and there were still vacant seats an hour later.

Sheriff Orland Hays was the first witness called by the state for the day, being the seventh state's witness examined so far.

On direct examination by Prosecutor John S. Bath, Sheriff Hays identified photographs previously admitted in evidence, one showing the lane where Patrick was killed, and another showing a stake to which a handkerchief was attached, which, he said, he had placed there to mark the spot where blood had soaked the ground.

He said he had taken a sample of

Negro Coed Is Expelled After Winning Court Nod

Dems Challenge Ike's Ability To Carry On

Eisenhower Labeled 'Parttime' President By His Opponents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's assertion that there isn't the slightest doubt he can now perform his duties as well as he ever did drew challenges from some Democrats today.

They said that since his Sept. 24 heart attack he has been a "parttime President" operating through a "regency" which would be ousted by the voters in November.

Reacting to a talk in which Eisenhower told the nation last night he would accept the GOP nomination but would not engage in "whistle-stop" speaking, Democrats spoke of a contrastingly vigorous campaign of personal appearances by their nominee.

Speaking to the nation by television and radio, Eisenhower said he is a "recovered heart patient" who doctors say is "as well as before the attack occurred."

"I may possibly be a greater risk than is the normal person of my age (65)," he said with something of a grimace, "but my doctors assure me that this increased percentage of risk is not great."

* * *

"AS OF THIS moment," he said, "there is not the slightest doubt that I can now perform, as well as I ever have, all of the important duties of the presidency. This I say because I am actually doing so and have been doing so for many weeks."

Eisenhower said that if he is nominated at the GOP convention in San Francisco in August, a foregone conclusion in the absence of any health setback before then, he will "wage no political campaign in the customary pattern."

In the first place, he said, he will have to follow "a regime of ordered work activity, interspersed with regular amounts of exercise, recreation and rest." He said he must keep down his weight, take a midday rest, retire early and pass up social engagements.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said Eisenhower's television appearance, coached by producer Robert Montgomery, presented the President in a "very cocky and overconfident" role.

"He wants to stay home, keep on golfing and let other people do the chores for him," Ellender said. "In my opinion, the American people will not swallow that kind of a proposition. He said he was sick and not capable of carrying on the full duties of his office."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) commented: "It seems like Mr. Eisenhower is planning a parttime campaign to become a parttime President." Humphrey said Eisenhower had been "compelled" to run again by Republicans "trying to save their party rather than save his health."

John Q. Public Expresses Opinion On Ike's Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citizen reaction to President Eisenhower's announcement he is available for a second term ranged today from "The best thing for the country" to "doing himself and the country a disfavor."

In between those comments from Mrs. Richard Grable, a Chicago Republican, and John J. Craig, a Montclair, N. J., Democrat, fell others expressing concern for Eisenhower the man and varying opinion on whether he can be reelected.

Many of those interviewed, like Craig, gave important consideration to Eisenhower's physical condition, but Sam Coues, a Concord, N. H., accountant, looked for a different kind of soundness. He said he was "delighted" by the announcement.

"I like to see a man who is morally and spiritually sound as the head of state," said Coues who did not mention his politics.

All spoke out after Eisenhower announced his decision at a news conference, but before he told a nationwide radio-TV audience last night he is "confident that I can carry indefinitely" all important duties of the presidency.

The comment crossed party lines. Mrs. Alice Davis, a Democrat from the Bronx, N. Y., said Eisenhower will win because the people are behind him and "he's the only man the Russians fear."

Thomas J. Patten, a Democrat from Kancas City, Mo., said Eisenhower is "the only man on the scene who can maintain our influence in world affairs." The Rev. C. L. Irwin of Indianapolis said, "His leadership will keep the country on a steady course."

And in Evanston, Ill., William Young, a clothing salesman, said, "they have to do a lot more specific selling on issues this time. I think a lot more people are shopping. It isn't 1952."

But George O'Connell, Helena, Mont., Democrat, said Eisenhower has "done a good job; I'll vote for him." Then O'Connell raised a question mentioned by several others—the status of Vice President Nixon.

That is important to Charles Prager of Jackson Heights, N.Y. a 1952 Eisenhower supporter. "If they renominate Nixon," he said, "Eisenhower definitely will not get my vote."

Hazel Shockley, a statehouse elevator operator at Sacramento, Calif., said, "I'd like to see Eisenhower back in, but what about Nixon?"

Identical comments on another angle came from three farmer-feeders interviewed at random in the Omaha, Neb., stockyards. Each said Eisenhower didn't keep his pre-election promises to the farmers. They were Verlin Sellows, Stromburg, Neb.; Grant Rullestad, Huxley, Iowa; and B. P. Setter, Manilla, Iowa.

Iran Grabs Soviet Spy

TEHRAN (AP)—Iranian agents arrested the Soviet Union's assistant military attache in Tehran last night, saying he was carrying top-secret Iranian military documents and had been "spying for a long time."

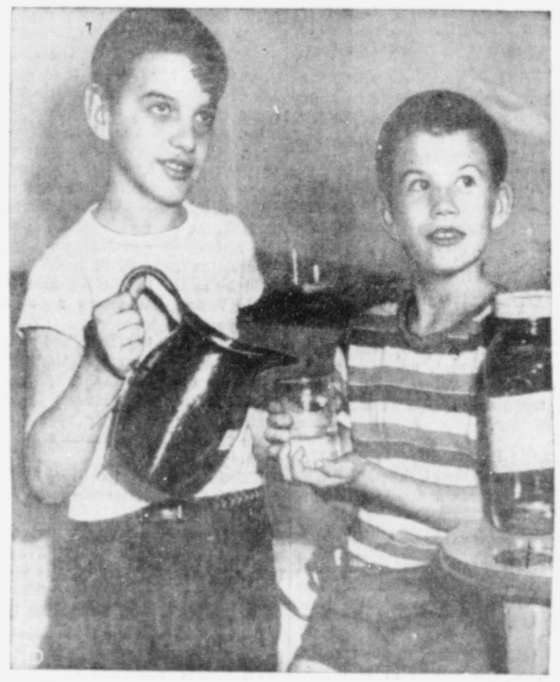

Brig. Gen. Teimour Bakhtiar, military governor of Tehran, announced the arrest of the Soviet officer, Maj. Ivanovich Kouznetsoff, and an Iranian officer.

Kouznetsoff was held overnight at the Iranian Foreign Ministry, where he refused to speak or eat. He was turned over to the Soviet Embassy today after his diplomatic status was established. Foreign Minister Ali Gholi Ardelan said the Russian would not have been arrested if he had been carrying his diplomatic credentials.

A Foreign Ministry official said the government would declare the Soviet officer persona non grata (unacceptable) and that he would leave Iran immediately.

"It is now revealed that the Soviet major has been spying for a long time," Bakhtiar said, "making use of Iranian warrant officer Hussein Rejaei Tehrani as his agent in the air force G2 (intelligence) organization."

An army source said Tehrani faces a speedy trial and the death penalty will be asked.

April, Not March, Found Windiest Month Of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — You think March, starting today, is the windiest month? Historically, it isn't. April is.

So the Weather Bureau says in a report on "climatological extremes" out today.

It should be a gem of information to people who like to talk about the weather but have worn their favorite facts a little thin. It says, for example:

The highest wind speed ever measured near the ground's surface was recorded on Mt. Washington, N. H., April 12, 1934. The highest gust was 231 miles an hour and the highest speed for one minute was 186 miles an hour.

The foggiest place in the United States is the Libby Islands, just off the coast of Maine. It is said to have an annual average of 1,554 hours of fog.

The highest temperature ever recorded under standard conditions was 136 degrees, recorded at Azzia, Tripolitania, in Northern Africa on Sept. 13, 1922. Until then Death Valley in California had held the record at 134 degrees.

* * *

Wynooche, Wash., was said to hold the U. S. annual rainfall record of 105.73 inches.

Bagdad, Calif., holds the U. S. record of the longest dry period—767 days, from Oct. 3, 1912, through Nov. 8, 1914.

Paradise ranger station at Rainier Park, Wash., holds the U. S. record for the greatest average annual snowfall—575.1 inches, while Tamarack, Calif., holds the record for the greatest amount in one season—884 inches in 1906-07.

The bureau says no means have been established to measure size of snowflakes, but some as large as saucers were reported to have fallen at Nashville, Tenn., on Jan. 24, 1891. This country's largest recorded hailstone fell at Potter, Neb., July 6, 1928, and weighed 1½ pounds.

Dismissal Asked Of Case Against Youthful Killer

WAPAKONETA (AP)—The attorney for three youths accused of murder in the holdup slaying of a tavern keeper Jan. 24 has asked dismissal of the indictment against one on grounds he is only 17 years old.

The motion to dismiss was filed by Ernest S. Navarre on behalf of James Thornton of Hazel Park, Mich. Sheriff Robert Davison said Thornton gave his age as 18 when he was booked after his arrest.

Navarre also filed a request for a bill of particulars on the circumstances surrounding the slaying. This was filed on behalf of Willie Thomas, 20, and Bernard Harris, 19. They also are from Hazel Park.

Marilyn Listens As Judge Lectures

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A $55 fine has satisfied the case of the people vs. Marilyn Monroe DiMaggio.

Demurely dressed in a black, high-necked dress, the actress pleaded guilty yesterday to a 1954 traffic fine, issued when she was still using the name of her ex-husband, Yankee Clipper Joe DiMaggio.

Miss Monroe paid $5 on a charge of driving without a license and $50 for failing to appear on the ticket and a bench warrant. Then she cast her blue eyes downward as Municipal Judge Charles J. Griffith lectured:

"Laws are made for all of us, whether our name happens to be Miss Monroe or not."

Miss Lucy's Unproved Claim Cited In Move

University Takes Action Soon After U. S. Judge Orders Readmission

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Autherine Lucy, Negro coed, today was expelled from the University of Alabama for unproved charges that school authorities conspired in mob action against her.

There was no official announcement from the board of trustees, but members confirmed that the action was agreed upon at meeting last night. They asked that their names not be used.

The action came within hours after U. S. Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms ordered the board to vacate an order excluding the 26-year-old Birmingham woman from the campus for safety reasons. He gave the university until Monday to take the action readmitting her.

There was no immediate comment from the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, which had sponsored her 2½-year legal battle to get admittance to the all-white school.

Andrew Thomas, attorney for the university, was closeted with Grooms in the judge's chambers this morning but declined any comment on reports that new legal steps are contemplated.

* * *

"I AM SHOCKED at this new turn of events," said Miss Lucy. "I have done all that I can. I was looking forward to returning to school. At this point there is nothing more that I can say."

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP chief counsel, said he had no comment. He represented the young woman at the hearing before Judge Grooms yesterday.

Meanwhile, the Alabama House of Representatives passed a resolution that would require Miss Lucy to testify Monday before a legislative committee investigating Communist activity.

Rep. T. K. Selman, who introduced the resolution in the House, said "racial tension in Alabama has mounted too fast in the last few months. I believe it is the work of Communists wodking through the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People."

In the Senate, unanimous voice approval was given to a resolution which would ask Congress for federal legislation to provide funls "to finance an apportionment of Negroes among the several Northern and Western states, areas where Negroes are wanted and can

At the start of the hearing yesterday, Marshall was allowed to drop allegations that the trustees and university officials named as defendants had conspired with outsiders in mob rioting that drove Miss Lucy from the campus at Tuscaloosa Feb. 6.

Marshall told the court that "after careful investigation we are unable to produce any evidence to support these allegations. This amendment takes out every single allegation of conspiracy."

The first major reaction came from Ace Carter, executive secretary of the North Alabama White Citizens Councils, an affiliation of 45 prosegregation groups.

Carter called a mass meeting here for March 9 and predicted an attendance by 15,000.

"we believe we have found a solution to Grooms' ruling," said the anti-integration leader, but he would not say what the solution was. He added: "We believe in fundamental correction."

On the university campus at Tuscaloosa, scene of the rioting which drove Miss Lucy from the school, all was quiet.

* * *

AFTER HER COURT victory, Miss Lucy issued a brief statement and went into seclusion. The statement said in part:

"As I see it this is a decision for law and order and I am naturally pleased by it. I hope to go on and become a student who will be a credit to the university."

Grooms sent Miss Lucy back to school despite dire predictions from defense witnesses during a hearing yesterday in his small, walnut-paneled courtroom that her reappearance would be met with violence, and possibly by assassination.

Last July, the Kentucky - born judge ordered the university to accept the onetime Birmingham secretary as a coed in the wake of a Supreme Court decision that she

New Auto License Tags Are Now Available Here

The first of the more than 6,000 car owners who will get their license tags here this month were waiting at the door of the Fayette County Auto Club on South Main Street when it was opened Thursday morning.

The first 1956 tags issued here went to Cary Estle Rowe. The white numerals and letters on the green background were 351KQ.

For many years before his death, Jake Willison got the first tags issued from the office here. A night watchman at the Midland Grocery Co., just across Main Street from the Auto Club, year after year he waited on the steps of the club office on the first day for the doors to open just to make sure he got the first plates.

Deputy registrars all over Ohio started issuing the new green and white 1956 license plates March 1 (today) and will keep at it until April 1, when the law says all cars must have them in place.

Howard C. Allen, who has been the deputy registrar for Fayette County ever since the state started issuing the tags in the counties, has been reappointed to that position.

Mrs. Fern Chaffin, second in command at the Auto Club, said on the eve of the opening of the license issuing period that "the usual staff of extra clerks is ready to take care of the applications just as in previous years."

During March, Mrs. Chaffin said,

Fairground Acquisition Is Brought Step Nearer

Possible acquisition of the 47-acre Fairground here by the Fayette County Agricultural Society was brought a step nearer late Wednesday when the state Supreme Court refused to reconsider its action of Feb. 8, when he declined to review the two decisions of the Fayette County court involving title to the tract and a suit to appropriate it.

In a nutshell—stripped of the legal verbage—indications are that the refusal of the Ohio Supreme Court to review two Fayette County court decisions in disputes of the title to the tract and a suit to appropriate it opened the door to the Fair Board to resume its action to appropriate the tract.

The first move in that direction would be for the Common Pleas court here to impanel a jury to assess the value of the Fairground tract.

This complicated litigation, which has been in the court for more than four years, has been heard at different times by three different judges and, the decisions of all three have been reversed by the Court of Appeals.

Just what course the tug-of-war between the Fair Board and the heirs of John B. McLean will take now is highly conjectural. Conceivably it could get back into the courts or it could be moved into the Common Pleas court for an assessment of value by a jury. There always is the possibility, too, that some agreement could be reached by the two factions.

* * *

THE REFUSAL of the Ohio Supreme Court today to review the two cases changes the entire course of events.

One suit involved attempts of the county agricultural society to appropriate the 47-acre site from Earl Scott and his sister, Mrs. Esther Scott Crone.

Common Pleas Court enjoined the society, but an appellate court threw out the injunction. Under a lease arrangement, the society rents the Fair site for $2,250 a year. The society has offered $47,500 for the land, but the owners claim it is worth $225,000.

The other action before the Supreme Court challenges ownership of Scott and his sister to the land. They are the grandchildren of John B. McLean, who died in 1916.

McLean deeded the land in 1906 to his daughter, Estella McLean Scott, and her children. McLean later issued a will and his second wife, Mary, claimed an interest in the land under the will.

In an action to quiet title, Common Pleas Court held for Scott and his sister, but an appellate court reversed and returned the case for further action.

By Wash Fayette

Based on early reports of some of the streets and roads in Fayette County, I would say that at more than one spot under some of the roads, and at least one street here, there are still remnants of the old corduroy roads.

Corduroy roads were necessary in the early days get across swampy lands. They were made by placing logs lengthwise across the roads to form a hard surface for horses, pedestrians, oxen and livestock generally to pass over without sticking in the mud.

When a vehicle crossed the sections of corduroy road, it was a continual bump, bump, bump due to the uneven surface.

However, the old timers did not mind that so much, just so they were able to keep out of the deep mire.

In some instances two or three layers of logs were placed, one on top of the other, as the first logs sank deeper and deeper into the mud.

U. S. Jet Crashes Into Japan Home

ATSUGI, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Navy F9F5 Panther jet crashed into a Japanese house today near the naval air station here. The pilot was killed and two Japanese women occupants of the house were taken to a hospital.

The identity of the pilot, who was on a routine training flight, was no announced pending notification of next of kin. The Navy said the cause of the crash had not been determined.

January Highway Toll Is Record

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly 3,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents in January, a 5 per cent increase over January 1955.

It was the 11th straight month of increased traffic tolls, the National Safety Council reported. The nation's traffic deaths in the first month of 1956 totaled 2,960 compared with 2,820 in January 1955.

2 Million Americans Get Boost In Their Pay Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than two million lower-paid workers got a pay increase today.

The pay hikes came through a boost in the federal minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour. It was voted by Congress last year to become effective today.

An estimated 24 million workers are covered by terms of the Fair Labor Standards Act (generally those engaged or whose work is connected with interstate commerce) but only about 2,100,000 have been making less than the new $1 minimum.

Although the maximum required pay boost could be 25 cents an hour, the Labor Department figured the average increase would be 13 cents an hour, or an estimated $560 million a year. Many of those benefiting have been making more than the old 75-cent minimum, which had been in effect for six years.

* * *

MORE THAN half the increases were in Southern states, from Maryland to Texas. This means Dixie's annual payroll will be hoisted for more than a million workers by a sum of more than $250 million.

President Eisenhower had recommended that Congress boost 75-cent minimum to 90 cents. He said that anything higher might cause some sudden unemployment. However, Congress voted for an even $1.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said the new minimum would create a better standard of living for workers affected by it, and would mean new purchasing power helpful to the entire economy.

Newell Brown, wage hour administrator for the Labor Department, said his agency is stepping up its enforcement staff and activities to see that the new law is observed.

"I may possibly be a greater risk than is the normal person of my age (65)," he said with something of a grimace, "but my doctors assure me that this increased percentage of risk is not great."

• • •

"AS OF THIS moment," he said. "there is not the slightest doubt that I can now perform, as well as I ever have, all of the important duties of the presidency. This I say because I am actually doing so and have been doing so for many weeks."

Eisenhower said that if he is nominated at the GOP convention in San Francisco in August, a foregone conclusion in the absence of any health setback before then, he will "wage no political campaign in the customary pattern."

In the first place, he said, he will have to follow "a regime of ordered work activity, interspersed with regular amounts of exercise, recreation and rest." He said he must keep down his weight, take a midday rest, retire early and pass up social engagements.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said Eisenhower's television appearance, coached by producer Robert Montgomery, presented the President in a "very cocky and overconfident" role.

"He wants to stay home, keep on golfing and let other people do the chores for him," Ellender said. "In my opinion, the American people will not swallow that kind of a proposition. He said he was sick and not capable of carrying on the full duties of his office."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) commented: "It seems like Mr. Eisenhower is planning a parttime campaign to become a parttime President." Humphrey said Eisenhower had been "compelled" to run again by Republicans "trying to save their party rather than save his health."

John Q. Public Expresses Opinion On Ike's Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citizen reaction to President Eisenhower's announcement he is available for a second term ranged today from "The best thing for the country" to "doing himself and the country a disfavor."

In between those comments from Mrs. Richard Grable, a Chicago Republican, and John J. Craig, a Montclair, N. J., Democrat, fell others expressing concern for Eisenhower the man and varying opinion on whether he can be reelected.

Many of those interviewed, like Craig, gave important consideration to Eisenhower's physical condition, but Sam Coues, a Concord, N. H., accountant, looked for a different kind of soundness. He said he was "delighted" by the announcement.

"I like to see a man who is morally and spiritually sound as the head of state," said Coues who did not mention his politics.

All spoke out after Eisenhower announced his decision at a news conference, but before he told a nationwide radio-TV audience last night he is "confident that I can carry indefinitely" all important duties of the presidency.

The comment crossed party lines. Mrs. Alice Davis, a Democrat from the Bronx, N. Y., said Eisenhower will win because the people are behind him and "he's the only man the Russians fear."

Thomas J. Patten, a Democrat from Kancas City, Mo., said Eisenhower is "the only man on the scene who can maintain our influence in world affairs." The Rev. C. L. Irwin of Indianapolis said, "His leadership will keep the country on a steady course."

And in Evanston, Ill., William Young, a clothing salesman, said, "they have to do a lot more specific selling on issues this time. I think a lot more people are shopping. It isn't 1952."

But George O'Connell, Helena, Mont., Democrat, said Eisenhower has "done a good job; I'll vote for him." Then O'Connell raised a question mentioned by several others—the status of Vice President Nixon.

That is important to Charles Prager of Jackson Heights, N.Y. a 1952 Eisenhower supporter. "If they renominate Nixon," he said, "Eisenhower definitely will not get my vote."

Hazel Shockley, a statehouse elevator operator at Sacramento, Calif., said, "I'd like to see Eisenhower back in, but what about Nixon?"

Identical comments on another angle came from three farmer-feeders interviewed at random in the Omaha, Neb., stockyards. Each said Eisenhower didn't keep his pre-election promises to the farmers. They were Verlin Sellows, Stromburg, Neb.; Grant Rullestad, Huxley, Iowa; and B. P. Setter, Manilla, Iowa.

Miss Lucy's Unproved Claim Cited In Move

University Takes Action Soon After U. S. Judge Orders Readmission

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Autherine Lucy, Negro coed, today was expelled from the University of Alabama for unproved charges that school authorities conspired in mob action against her.

There was no official announcement from the board of trustees, but members confirmed that the action was agreed upon at meeting last night. They asked that their names not be used.

The action came within hours after U. S. Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms ordered the board to vacate an order excluding the 26-year-old Birmingham woman from the campus for safety reasons. He gave the university until Monday to take the action readmitting her.

There was no immediate comment from the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, which had sponsored her 2½-year legal battle to get admittance to the all-white school.

Andrew Thomas, attorney for the university, was closeted with Grooms in the judge's chambers this morning but declined any comment on reports that new legal steps are contemplated.

• • •

"I AM SHOCKED at this new turn of events," said Miss Lucy. "I have done all that I can. I was looking forward to returning to school. At this point there is nothing more that I can say."

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP chief counsel, said he had no comment. He represented the young woman at the hearing before Judge Grooms yesterday.

Meanwhile, the Alabama House of Representatives passed a resolution that would require Miss Lucy to testify Monday before a legislative committee investigating Communist activity.

Rep. T. K. Selman, who introduced the resolution in the House, said "racial tension in Alabama has moun ed too fast in the last few months. I believe it is the work of Communists wodking through the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People."

In the Senate, unanimous voice approval was given to a resolution which would ask Congress for federal legislation to provide funls "to finance an apportionment of Negroes among the several Nor hern and Western states, areas where Negroes are wanted and can

At the start of the hearing yesterday, Marshall was allowed to drop allegations that the trustees and university officials named as defendants had conspired with outsiders in mob rioting that drove Miss Lucy from the campus at Tuscaloosa Feb. 6.

Marshall told the court that "after careful investigation we are unable to produce any evidence to support these allegations. This amendment takes out every single allegation of conspiracy."

The first major reaction came from Ace Carter, executive secretary of the North Alabama White Citizens Councils, an affiliation of 45 prosegregation groups.

Carter called a mass meeting here for March 9 and predicted an attendance by 15,000.

"we believe we have found a solution to Grooms' ruling," said the anti-integration leader, but he would not say what the solution was. He added: "We believe in fundamental correction."

On the university campus at Tuscaloosa, scene of the rioting which drove Miss Lucy from the school, all was quiet.

• • •

AFTER HER COURT victory, Miss Lucy issued a brief statement and went into seclusion. The statement said in part:

"As I see it this is a decision for law and order and I am naturally pleased by it. I hope to go on and become a student who will be a credit to the university."

Grooms sent Miss Lucy back to school despite dire predictions from defense witnesses during a hearing yesterday in his small, walnut-paneled courtroom that her reappearance would be met with violence, and possibly by assassination.

Last July, the Kentucky - born judge ordered the university to accept the onetime Birmingham secretary as a coed in the wake of a Supreme Court decision that she

New Auto License Tags Are Now Available Here

The first of the more than 6,000 car owners who will get their license tags here this month were waiting at the door of the Fayette County Auto Club on South Main Street when it was opened Thursday morning.

The first 1956 tags issued here went to Cary Estle Rowe. The white numerals and letters on the green background were 351KQ.

For many years before his death, Jake Willison got the first tags issued from the office here. A night watchman at the Midland Grocery Co., just across Main Street from the Auto Club, year after year he waited on the steps of the club office on the first day for the doors to open just to make sure he got the first plates.

Deputy registrars all over Ohio started issuing the new green and white 1956 license plates March 1 (today) and will keep at it until April 1, when the law says all cars must have them in place.

Howard C. Allen, who has been the deputy registrar for Fayette County ever since the state started issuing the tags in the counties, has been reappointed to that position.

Mrs. Fern Chaffin, second in command at the Auto Club, said on the eve of the opening of the license issuing period that "the usual staff of extra clerks is ready to take care of the applications just as in previous years."

During March, Mrs. Chaffin said,

Fairground Acquisition Is Brought Step Nearer

Possible acquisition of the 47-acre Fairground here by the Fayette County Agricultural Society was brought a step nearer late Wednesday when the state Supreme Court refused to reconsider its action of Feb. 8, when he declined to review the two decisions of the Fayette County court involving title to the tract and a suit to appropriate it.

In a nutshell—stripped of the legal verbage—indications are that the refusal of the Ohio Supreme Court to review two Fayette County court decisions in disputes of the title to the tract and a suit to appropriate it opened the door to the Fair Board to resume its action to appropriate the tract.

The first move in that direction would be for the Common Pleas court here to impanel a jury to assess the value of the Fairground tract.

This complicated litigation, which has been in the court for more than four years, has been heard at different times by three different judges and, the decisions of all three have been reversed by the Court of Appeals.

Just what course the tug-of-war between the Fair Board and the heirs of John B. McLean will take now is highly conjectural. Conceivably it could get back into the courts or it could be moved into the Common Pleas court for an assessment of value by a jury. There always is the possibility, too, that some agreement could be reached by the two factions.

• • •

THE REFUSAL of the Ohio Supreme Court today to review the two cases changes the entire course of events.

One suit involved attempts of the county agricultural society to appropriate the 47-acre site from Earl Scott and his sister, Mrs. Esther Scott Crone.

Common Pleas Court enjoined the society, but an appellate court threw out the injunction. Under a lease arrangement, the society rents the Fair site for $2,250 a year. The society has offered $47,500 for the land, but the owners claim it is worth $225,000.

The other action before the Supreme Court challenges ownership of Scott and his sister to the land. They are the grandchildren of John B. McLean, who died in 1916.

McLean deeded the land in 1906 to his daughter, Estella McLean Scott, and her children. McLean later issued a will and his second wife, Mary, claimed an interest in the land under the will.

In an action to quiet title, Common Pleas Court held for Scott and his sister, but an appellate court reversed and returned the case for further action.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Based on early reports of some of the streets and roads in Fayette County, I would say that at more than one spot under some of the roads, and at least one street here, there are still remnants of the old corduroy roads.

Corduroy roads were necessary in the early days get across swampy lands. They were made by placing logs lengthwise across the roads to form a hard surface for horses, pedestrians, oxen and livestock generally to pass over without sticking in the mud.

When a vehicle crossed the sections of corduroy road, it was a continual bump, bump, bump due to the uneven surface.

However, the old timers did not mind that so much, just so they were able to keep out of the deep mire.

In some instances two or three layers of logs were placed, one on top of the other, as the first logs sank deeper and deeper into the mud.

U. S. Jet Crashes Into Japan Home

ATSUGI, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Navy F9F5 Panther jet crashed into a Japanese house today near the naval air station here. The pilot was killed and two Japanese women occupants of the house were taken to a hospital.

The identity of the pilot, who was on a routine training flight, was no announced pending notification of next of kin. The Navy said the cause of the crash had not been determined.

January Highway Toll Is Record

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly 3,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents in January, a 5 per cent increase over January 1955.

It was the 11th straight month of increased traffic tolls, the National Safety Council reported. The nation's traffic deaths in the first month of 1956 totaled 2,960 compared with 2,820 in January 1955.

Iran Grabs Soviet Spy

TEHRAN (AP)—Iranian agents arrested the Soviet Union's assistant military attache in Tehran last night, saying he was carrying top-secret Iranian military documents and had been "spying for a long time."

Brig. Gen. Teimour Bakhtiar, military governor of Tehran, announced the arrest of the Soviet officer, Maj. Ivanovich Kouznetsoff, and an Iranian officer.

Kouznetsoff was held overnight at the Iranian Foreign Ministry, where he refused to speak or eat. He was turned over to the Soviet Embassy today after his diplomatic status was established. Foreign Minister Ali Gholi Ardelan said the Russian would not have been arrested if he had been carrying his diplomatic credentials.

A Foreign Ministry official said the government would declare the Soviet officer persona non grata (unacceptable) and that he would leave Iran immediately.

"It is now revealed that the Soviet major has been spying for a long time," Bakhtiar said, "making use of Iranian warrant officer Hussein Rejaei Tehrani as his agent in the air force G2 (intelligence) organization."

An army source said Tehrani faces a speedy trial and the death penalty will be asked.

2 Million Americans Get Boost In Their Pay Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than two million lower-paid workers got a pay increase today.

The pay hikes came through a boost in the federal minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour. It was voted by Congress last year to become effective today.

An estimated 24 million workers are covered by terms of the Fair Labor Standards Act (generally those engaged or whose work is connected with interstate commerce) but only about 2,100,000 have been making less than the new $1 minimum.

Although the maximum required pay boost could be 25 cents an hour, the Labor Department figured the average increase would be 13 cents an hour, or an estimated $560 million a year. Many of those benefiting have been making more than the old 75-cent minimum, which had been in effect for six years.

• • •

MORE THAN half the increases were in Southern states, from Maryland to Texas. This means Dixie's annual payroll will be hoisted for more than a million workers by a sum of more than $250 million.

President Eisenhower had recommended that Congress boost 75-cent minimum to 90 cents. He said that anything higher might cause some sudden unemployment. However, Congress voted for an even $1.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said the new minimum would create a better standard of living for workers affected by it, and would mean new purchasing power helpful to the entire economy.

Newell Brown, wage hour administrator for the Labor Department, said his agency is stepping up its enforcement staff and activities to see that the new law is observed.

April, Not March, Found Windiest Month Of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — You think March, starting today, is the windiest month? Historically, it isn't. April is.

So the Weather Bureau says in a report on "climatological extremes" out today.

It should be a gem of information to people who like to talk about the weather but have worn their favorite facts a little thin. It says, for example:

The highest wind speed ever measured near the ground's surface was recorded on Mt. Washington, N. H., April 12, 1934. The highest gust was 231 miles an hour and the highest speed for one minute was 186 miles an hour.

The foggiest place in the United States is the Libby Islands, just off the coast of Maine. It is said to have an annual average of 1,554 hours of fog.

The highest temperature ever recorded under standard conditions was 136 degrees, recorded at Azzia, Tripolitania, in Northern Africa on Sept. 13, 1922. Until then Death Valley in California had held the record at 134 degrees.

• • •

Wynooche, Wash., was said to hold the U. S. annual rainfall record of 105.73 inches.

The world's greatest rainfall for one minute was reported at 0.69 inches at Jefferson, Iowa, on July 10, 1955.

Bagdad, Calif., holds the U. S. record of the longest dry period—767 days, from Oct. 3, 1912, through Nov. 8, 1914.

Paradise ranger station at Rainier Park, Wash., holds the U. S. record for the greatest average annual snowfall—575.1 inches, while Tamarack, Calif., holds the record for the greatest amount in one season—884 inches in 1906-07.

The bureau says no means have been established to measure size of snowflakes, but some as large as saucers were reported to have fallen at Nashville, Tenn., on Jan. 24, 1891. This country's largest recorded hailstone fell at Potter, Neb., July 6, 1928, and weighed 1½ pounds.

Dismissal Asked Of Case Against Youthful Killer

WAPAKONETA (AP)—The attorney for three youths accused of murder in the holdup slaying of a tavern keeper Jan. 24 has asked dismissal of the indictment against one on grounds he is only 17 years old.

The motion to dismiss was filed by Ernest S. Navarre on behalf of James Thornton of Hazel Park, Mich. Sheriff Robert Davison said Thornton gave his age as 18 when he was booked after his arrest.

Navarre also filed a request for a bill of particulars on the circumstances surrounding the slaying. This was filed on behalf of Willie Thomas, 20, and Bernard Harris, 19. They also are from Hazel Park.

Marilyn Listens As Judge Lectures

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A $55 fine has satisfied the case of the people vs. Marilyn Monroe DiMaggio.

Demurely dressed in a black, high-necked dress, the actress pleaded guilty yesterday to a 1954 traffic fine, issued when she was still using the name of her ex-husband, Yankee Clipper Joe DiMaggio.

Miss Monroe paid $5 on a charge of driving without a license and $50 for failing to appear on the ticket and a bench warrant. Then she cast her blue eyes downward as Municipal Judge Charles J. Griffith lectured:

"Laws are made for all of us, whether our name happens to be Miss Monroe or not."

Oscar Fleckner At Meeting Here

Democrats Aspirant For Ohio Governor

Oscar L. Fleckner

It was an open meeting and it was held after a dinner in the banquet room of the Hotel Washington at which Fleckner and some of the Democratic leaders here talked politics and the coming primary and general election campaigns.

Reed M. Winegardner, a Washington C. H. attorney and candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, presided at the after-dinner meeting.

Also at the meeting were Phillip Tatman, who is seeking the nomination for sheriff, and Virtus Kruse, the chairman of the county Democratic executive committee.

• • •

IN SPEAKING briefly of the basic needs of the state and his concept of the two-party system, Fleckner told the group that:

"While freedom is denied to so many people in this old world, here in the United States we hold to Democracy in the American way. I have a keen interest in Oscar L. Fleckner, of course, and I am formally entering the Gubernatorial campaign to win, in the highest tradition of our two-party system. More important than that, however, is our duty to actively participate in government — our government.

"The Primary election is an integral part of our way of life. I shall strive to earn the endorsement of my candidacy at the polls with a vigorous campaign which will be forthright. Win, lose or draw, I sincerely urge every qualified voter to cast his or her vote in the freedom of choice that is ours.

"I bring to this campaign a new name and a new personality to State-wide elections. My first interest is good government that is sensitive to the will of the electorate; that will have vision; and that will provide leadership in action."

Fayette Residents See Show Results

Final results of the Ohio Spring Barrow Show were viewed by a number of Fayette County residents Wednesday at the Armour Packing plant and the Youth Building at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in the afternoon.

Three hundred and forty hogs were shown last Saturday at London. Slaughter tests were run on thirty head, including the first place winners of each breed.

The three having the highest cutout values were Yorkshires with the percent of primal cuts being 52.5, 52.3 and 52.1 respectively.

Those attending from Fayette County were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owens, Harry Craig, A. R. Rankin, Howard McDonald, George Smith and W. W. Montgomery, County Agent.

was entitled to admission.

Miss Lucy actually enrolled in the school Feb. 2 but when she attempted to attend classes, four days of rioting broke out among 3,000 students and others described by university officials and police as "outsiders."

With the legal assistance of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, Miss Lucy asked Grooms to cite 13 university trustees and officials for contempt of his July order.

In his decision, Grooms vacated the contempt motion. He ruled that the university officials had "acted in good faith" under the riotous circumstances.

A companion plea by Miss Lucy that she be granted dormitory and dining room facilities on the campus was taken under advisement by Grooms until tomorrow.

Before he read his decision, the tall, bespectacled judge observed, "There are some people who believe this court should carve out a province in north Alabama, fortify the borders, man the battlements and defy the Supreme Court."

His court, said Grooms, would never undertake such defiance.

New Auto Tags Here

there would be 10 in the office to take care of issuing the licenses.

Experience has shown, Mrs. Chaffin pointed out, that the biggest rush comes during the first few days of the month and then again, after a lull, during the last few days.

• • •

JUST HOW MANY tags will be issued at the office here this month will not be known, of course, until after the April 1 deadline for old tags. However, there were about 10,000 issued last year, most of them during March. Of these, approximately 7,500 were for cars and 2,500 for trucks. Mrs. Chaffin said there was nothing to indicate that there would be any decrease this year. On the basis of previous years, around 6,000 tags for cars alone are expected to be put out at the office here this month.

With the exception of the special numbered and lettered tags, the plates that will be isued here will be in the KP-KQ-KR-KS-KT-KU-KV and KW series again this year.

The tags of the standard 6 by 12 inch size have green letters and numerals on a white background. The fees are the same as in the past, $10 for passenger cars with those for trucks and trailers based on weight etc.

There is a fee, too, for applicants who are not members of the Auto Club.

Mrs. Chaffin reminded that applicants for licenses would have to bring their certificates of title with them; she emphasized that licenses cannot be issued unless the applicants have their certificates of title.

The Fayette County Auto Club, one of the biggest anywhere in proportion to population and vehicles, will be renewing literally hundreds of club memberships during this license-issuing period.

Through the years, the club has broadened its service to members to include such as personal insurance, bail bond, identification card (considered valuable in traveling) and car service.

Owners who wanted special tags (initials, house number etc.) had to apply for them direct to the registrar of motor vehicles in the state capital.

Most club members will be able to get the same numbers they have had in the past.

Just before the start of the license-issuing period, the staff at the club here had prepared tags for mailing to applicants away from home who did not expect to return in time to get them before the April 1 deadline.

March Starts, In Confusion, Like A Lamb

The weatherman, bless his soul, is confused.

He's dished up most lamb - like weather for the first day of March. And, according to legend, this is supposed to be the day for blustery winds, blizzards, ice storms, below-zero weather and other last-fling elements of winter.

March is supposed to come in like a lion but it came in like a lamb instead.

And that's not the only indication that the weather - guesser is mixed up.

Ground Hog Day is supposed to be in February. The tale goes that, on the appointed day, the furry little weather prophet pokes his head out of his hole and decides whether winter will continue or come to a stop in a few short weeks.

Observers from Maine to the Rio Grande spotted individual groundhogs on that day, predicting everything from spring the following day to several months of winter.

But here in Fayette County, reports have it, not one groundhog appeared.

THE DEFENSE objected to admission of Exhibit No. 6, showing the stake and handkerchief, but the court admitted it in evidence.

This photograph was given to he jury for examination. Prosecutor Bath then handed the shotgun to Sheriff Hays, who identified it as one taken from a car and given to him in the presence of George Baldridge a short time after the shooting of Patrick.

The gun was offered in evidence as states Exhibit No. 10. There was no objection to its admission.

The sheriff said Baldridge came to his office the morning of the shooting.

Under cross examination by Emory Smith, Sheriff Hays said Baldridge did not say anything to him about Butler's bond.

Asked about he gun having been oiled, he stated that he had not noticed it.

Under re-direct examination Sheriff Hays said that a man who came to his office with Smith, and examined the gun, said it was in good condition.

Sheriff Hays was excused subject to recall.

The crowd of spectators was so great when court resumed Wednesday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, that many were turned away after the 64 seats in the spectator's gallery were filled.

Quite a number of officials, including sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, policemen, state highway patrolmen and attorneys found seats within the enclosure separated from the spectator's gallery by a railing.

Many were permitted to go into the law library back of the high partition which was built across the large courtroom when the law library was moved to its present location.

Judge Case made it clear that they would be permitted back of the partition only so long as they remained quiet. They complied with the court request.

Mrs. Marie Patrick, widow of the slain officer, occupied a seat with the other spectators.

• • •

CROSS EXAMINATION of Jack Kamman, game protector with Patrick at the time he was killed, was resumed when court reopened for the afternoon session.

The defense sought to admit an article which appeared in a Cincinnati paper, quoting Kamman, but objections by the State were sustained.

When Defense Counsel Smith asked Kamman if he had made a statement to or in the presence of the sports editor of the Cincinnati newspaper, Kamman replied that he had not.

Under re-direct examination, Kamman said the only movement he saw Patrick make when he got out of the car was to reach for Baldridge's gun.

Kamman was excused subject to recall.

Dr. N. M. Reiff, the county coroner, was the next witness called by the state, but before he left the stand he was adopted as a defense witness in one of the unusual proceedings in the trial.

Dr. Reiff had two X-ray negatives which were examined after the jury had been excused for a short time. Later, on agreement of defense attorneys, the jury was permitted to examine the pictures by the aid of a desk light.

Dr. Reiff explained that the large bone of the leg had been separated by the gunshot wound and white spots showed many shots near the shattered bone.

UNDER cross-examination Dr. Reiff showed on his own hip about where the charge penetrated Patrick's thigh, and said the wound was about the size of a button on his coat (about three quarters of an inch in diameter and indicating the wound had been inflicted at close range). He said there were powder burns about the wound.

After further questioning regarding the wound, he was questioned as to the condition of Baldridge, his personal physician for several years.

Dr. Reiff said he was present when Boylan took pictures of the wound at the hospital, and identified a wad from a shell, showing in a picture, which had been removed with a probe.

Before Dr. Reiff left the stand he was adopted as the defense witness, and examined direct by defense attorney Smith. Dr. Reiff said he had been attending Baldridge for some five years and had treated him for various ailments, including hardening of the arteries, a heart ailment, and a kidney stone, for which he was recently hospitalized.

He said a heart ailment usually affects the nervous system.

Dr. Reiff was excused subject to recall.

• • •

FIFTH WITNESS for the state was the Columbus pathologist who performed an autopsy after Patrick's death.

He was Dr. Mel A. Davis, who said that in his opinion, Patrick's death was the result of "shock and hemmorhage due to a shotgun wound in the left thigh."

Except for the thigh wound, measuring three-fourths of an inch by one and a half inches, Dr. Davis said his examination revealed "nothing that could have caused the man's death."

(Sheriff Orland Hays said at the time of the primary investigation that the shotgun was a 12 gauge Remington a good many years old.)

Inside the wound, he said, he found several lead pellets, which he turned over to Joseph Martina of the state Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London. Martina is scheduled to appear as a witness for the prosecution.

Dr. Davis' testimony took less than five minutes. He was not cross-examined by the defense and was discharged after his direct examination.

• • •

RICHARD CRAIG, a neighbor of Baldridge's, said under direct examination by Prosecutor Bath that on the day of the shooting he set out to look for Patrick and Jack Kamman.

When he saw their car at the Baldridge farm, Craig said, he went to Baldridge and asked: "Is that the game wardens' car?"

"Yes, the sons of b----s," he quoted Baldridge as replying.

"Why, what happened?" Craig said he asked.

"I just shot one," he testified Baldridge answered.

Under re-direct examination by Bath, Craig changed the wording once more, reporting that Baldridge had said: "I just shot the man."

After Craig was dismissed, counsel for both the defense and the state agreed to the court's suggestion that the afternoon session be ended. The session recessed at 3:34 P. M. to be resumed Thursday morning.

Oscar Fleckner At Meeting Here

Democrats Aspirant For Ohio Governor

Oscar L. Fleckner

It was an open meeting and it was held after a dinner in the banquet room of the Hotel Washington at which Fleckner and some of the Democratic leaders here talked politics and the coming primary and general election campaigns.

Reed M. Winegardner, a Washington C. H. attorney and candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, presided at the after-dinner meeting.

Also at the meeting were Phillip Tatman, who is seeking the nomination for sheriff, and Virtus Kruse, the chairman of the county Democratic executive committee.

• • •

IN SPEAKING briefly of the basic needs of the state and his concept of the two-party system, Fleckner told the group that:

"While freedom is denied to so many people in this old world, here in the United States we hold to Democracy in the American way. I have a keen interest in Oscar L. Fleckner, of course, and I am formally entering the Gubernatorial campaign to win, in the highest tradition of our two-party system. More important than that, however, is our duty to actively participate in government — our government.

"The Primary election is an integral part of our way of life. I shall strive to earn the endorsement of my candidacy at the polls with a vigorous campaign which will be forthright. Win, lose or draw, I sincerely urge every qualified voter to cast his or her vote in the freedom of choice that is ours.

"I bring to this campaign a new name and a new personality to State-wide elections. My first interest is good government that is sensitive to the will of the electorate; that will have vision; and that will provide leadership in action."

The three having the highest cut-out values were Yorkshires with the percent of primal cuts being 52.5, 52.3 and 52.1 respectively.

A Hampshire, belonging to G. H. Perrill and Sons, with primal cuts equalled 50.2 percent.

Negro Coed

was entitled to admission.

Miss Lucy actually enrolled in the school Feb. 2 but when she attempted to attend classes, four days of rioting broke out among 3,000 students and others described by university officials and police as "outsiders."

With the legal assistance of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, Miss Lucy asked Grooms to cite 13 university trustees and officials for contempt of his July order.

In his decision, Grooms vacated the contempt motion. He ruled that the university officials had "acted in good faith" under the riotous circumstances.

A companion plea by Miss Lucy that she be granted dormitory and dining room facilities on the campus was taken under advisement by Grooms until tomorrow.

Before he read his decision, the tall, bespectacled judge observed, "There are some people who believe this court should carve out a province in north Alabama, fortify the borders, man the battlements and defy the Supreme Court."

His court, said Grooms, would never undertake such defiance.

there would be 10 in the office to take care of issuing the licenses.

Experience has shown, Mrs. Chaffin pointed out, that the biggest rush comes during the first few days of the month and then again, after a lull, during the last few days.

• • •

JUST HOW MANY tags will be issued at the office here this month will not be known, of course, until after the April 1 deadline for old tags. However, there were about 10,000 issued last year, most of them during March. Of these, approximately 7,500 were for cars and 2,500 for trucks. Mrs. Chaffin said there was nothing to indicate that there would be any decrease this year. On the basis of previous years, around 6,000 tags for cars alone are expected to be put out at the office here this month.

With the exception of the special numbered and lettered tags, the plates that will be isued here will be in the KP-KQ-KR-KS-KT-KU-KV and KW series again this year.

The tags of the standard 6 by 12 inch size have green letters and numerals on a white background. The fees are the same as in the past, $10 for passenger cars with those for trucks and trailers based on weight etc.

There is a fee, too, for applicants who are not members of the Auto Club.

Mrs. Chaffin reminded that applicants for licenses would have to bring their certificates of title with them; she emphasized that licenses cannot be issued unless the applicants have their certificates of title.

The Fayette County Auto Club, one of the biggest anywhere in proportion to population and vehicles, will be renewing literally hundreds of club memberships during this license-issuing period.

Through the years, the club has broadened its service to members to include such as personal insurance, bail bond, identification card (considered valuable in traveling) and car service.

Owners who wanted special tags (initials, house number etc.) had to apply for them direct to the registrar of motor vehicles in the state capital.

Most club members will be able to get the same numbers they have had in the past.

Just before the start of the license-issuing period, the staff at the club here had prepared tags for mailing to applicants away from home who did not expect to return in time to get them before the April 1 deadline.

Blessed Events

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Creachbaum, Route 3, Greenfield, are the parents of a seven pound, three ounce son, born in Memorial Hospital, Wednesday at 10 P. M.

Officers Are Elected By Junior Shepherds

The Junior Shepherds Club elected John Rhoad as president at a meeting at the Farm Bureau auditorium. Care of ewes at lambing time was the main item up for discussion.

Owens To Judge Durocs At Ohio State Fair

Bob Owens of Jeffersonville will judge the Duroc breeding classes at the Ohio State Fair this year. Owens is a graduate of Ohio State University, a member of the Fayette County Fair Board and a breeder of Purebred Duroc hogs.

March Starts, In Confusion, Like A Lamb

The weatherman, bless his soul, is confused.

He's dished up most lamb - like weather for the first day of March. And, according to legend, this is supposed to be the day for blustery winds, blizzards, ice storms, below-zero weather and other last-fling elements of winter.

March is supposed to come in like a lion but it came in like a lamb instead.

And that's not the only indication that the weather - guesser is mixed up.

Ground Hog Day is supposed to be in February. The tale goes that, on the appointed day, the furry little weather prophet pokes his head out of his hole and decides whether winter will continue or come to a stop in a few short weeks.

Observers from Maine to the Rio Grande spotted individual groundhogs on that day, predicting everything from spring the following day to several months of winter.

But here in Fayette County, reports have it, not one groundhog appeared.

Baldridge Trial

the earth and turned it over to the Ohio Bureau of Identification and Criminal Investigation, for tests.

• • •

THE DEFENSE objected to admission of Exhibit No. 6, showing the stake and handkerchief, but the court admitted it in evidence.

This photograph was given to he jury for examination. Prosecutor Bath then handed the shotgun to Sheriff Hays, who identified it as one taken from a car and given to him in the presence of George Baldridge a short time after the shooting of Patrick.

The gun was offered in evidence as states Exhibit No. 10. There was no objection to its admission.

The sheriff said Baldridge came to his office the morning of the shooting.

Under cross examination by Emory Smith, Sheriff Hays said Baldridge did not say anything to him about Butler's bond.

Asked about he gun having been oiled, he stated that he had not noticed it.

Under re-direct examination Sheriff Hays said that a man who came to his office with Smith, and examined the gun, said it was in good condition.

Sheriff Hays was excused subject to recall.

The crowd of spectators was so great when court resumed Wednesday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, that many were turned away after the 64 seats in the spectator's gallery were filled.

Quite a number of officials, including sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, policemen, state highway patrolmen and attorneys found seats within the enclosure separated from the spectator's gallery by a railing.

Many were permitted to go into the law library back of the high partition which was built across the large courtroom when the law library was moved to its present location.

Judge Case made it clear that they would be permitted back of the partition only so long as they remained quiet. They complied with the court request.

Mrs. Marie Patrick, widow of the slain officer, occupied a seat with the other spectators.

• • •

CROSS EXAMINATION of Jack Kamman, game protector with Patrick at the time he was killed, was resumed when court reopened for the afternoon session.

The defense sought to admit an article which appeared in a Cincinnati paper, quoting Kamman, but objections by the State were sustained.

When Defense Counsel Smith asked Kamman if he had made a statement to or in the presence of the sports editor of the Cincinnati newspaper, Kamman replied that he had not.

Under re-direct examination, Kamman said the only movement he saw Patrick make when he got out of the car was to reach for Baldridge's gun.

Kamman was excused subject to recall.

Dr. N. M. Reiff, the county coroner, was the next witness called by the state, but before he left the stand he was adopted as a defense witness in one of the unusual proceedings in the trial.

Dr. Reiff had two X-ray negatives which were examined after the jury had been excused for a short time. Later, on agreement of defense attorneys, the jury was permitted to examine the pictures by the aid of a desk light.

Dr. Reiff explained that the large bone of the leg had been separated by the gunshot wound and white spots showed many shots near the shattered bone.

UNDER cross-examination Dr. Reiff showed on his own hip about where the charge penetrated Patrick's thigh, and said the wound was about the size of a button on his coat (about three quarters of an inch in diameter and indicating the wound had been inflicted at close range). He said there were powder burns about the wound.

After further questioning regarding the wound, he was questioned as to the condition of Baldridge, his personal physician for several years.

Dr. Reiff said he was present when Boylan took pictures of the wound at the hospital, and identified a wad from a shell, showing in a picture, which had been removed with a probe.

Before Dr. Reiff left the stand he was adopted as the defense witness, and examined direct by defense attorney Smith. Dr. Reiff said he had been attending Baldridge for some five years and had treated him for various ailments, including hardening of the arteries, a heart ailment, and a kidney stone, for which he was recently hospitalized.

He said a heart ailment usually affects the nervous system.

Dr. Reiff was excused subject to recall.

• • •

FIFTH WITNESS for the state was the Columbus pathologist who performed an autopsy after Patrick's death.

He was Dr. Mel A. Davis, who said that in his opinion, Patrick's death was the result of "shock and hemmorhage due to a shotgun wound in the left thigh."

Except for the thigh wound, measuring three-fourths of an inch by one and a half inches, Dr. Davis said his examination revealed "nothing that could have caused the man's death."

(Sheriff Orland Hays said at the time of the primary investigation that the shotgun was a 12 gauge Remington a good many years old.)

Inside the wound, he said, he found several lead pellets, which he turned over to Joseph Martina of the state Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London. Martina is scheduled to appear as a witness for the prosecution.

Dr. Davis' testimony took less than five minutes. He was not cross-examined by the defense and was discharged after his direct examination.

• • •

RICHARD CRAIG, a neighbor of Baldridge's, said under direct examination by Prosecutor Bath that on the day of the shooting he set out to look for Patrick and Jack Kamman.

When he saw their car at the Baldridge farm, Craig said, he went to Baldridge and asked: "Is that the game wardens' car?"

"Yes, the sons of b----s," he quoted Baldridge as replying.

"Why, what happened?" Craig said he asked.

"I just shot one," he testified Baldridge answered.

Under re-direct examination by Bath, Craig changed the wording once more, reporting that Baldridge had said: "I just shot the man."

After Craig was dismissed, counsel for both the defense and the state agreed to the court's suggestion that the afternoon session be ended. The session recessed at 3:34 P. M. to be resumed Thursday morning.

Investigation Challenges Campaign Gifts

In localities like Fayette County not many people get the real picture of what goes on in Congress, or even in our own Ohio General Assembly in the way of pressure and political lobbying.

As a result in present congressional probe of the gas and oil lobby, which is now being enlarged to take in other lobby groups, few actual facts are known by the public.

Of course, all this is not new. Back over many years there have been investigations periodically, some of which have brought out startling disclosures, others have fallen flat. In some cases however where there were uncovered some real guilt, public reaction has been strong and usually ended with changes in law to make the improper use of pressure and money a serious offense with real punishment where violations are found.

What has happened to start off the present probe in Washington brings out a pattern of activities which are not unknown in past cases.

Naturally there should be no prejudgment, no accusation of guilt before the evidence is in; but the beginnings of the hearings certainly are similar to other beginnings. Sometimes the people wonder just how many times they must go through this unpleasant and trying experience.

The men in this particular affair may be cleared of all questionable dealing, their record may be proved to be entirely clean; but the evidence, so far, is that they used methods which have no place in good government.

Rumors of shady dealings have been common in Washington D. C. on many occasions. In the present case there were stories of pressure and of trades, political and financial. The whole thing was tarnished long before it came to the vote.

Sen. Case no sooner made his disclosure of the $2,500 campaign contribution than the rumors, heretofore whispered, were spoken aloud. Reports of other contributions and various transactions were detailed.

The whole method of contributing to campaign funds now is challenged. There are awakened doubts and insistent queries about the propriety of a public servant accepting vast sums for his campaign when, if elected, he necessarily is under obligation to the contributors of the money.

The lid may be off Pandora's box and the whole method of election may be forced into public scrutiny. It is right that it should be examined. Wherever pressure and political duress is discovered, it should be ended.

Diet and Health

New Pain Relievers Now In Drug Field

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

New drugs for treating rheumatic diseases, fungal infections and infections of the urinary tract are among medicine's latest developments in the battle against health hazards.

For example, cordex, one of the new drugs, is designed for use in milk to moderate conditions of rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, gouty arthritis, bursitis, myositis, tenosynovitis, fibrostis and neuritis.

More Potent Form

IT combines prednisolone, a more potent form of hydrocortisone, with acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin). The drug offers both anti-inflammatory and paindeadening action.

Sigmagen is another new drug for use against gout, bursitis, lumbago and muscular rheumatism. It combines the anti-inflammatory action of meticorten with pain-relieving salicylates and vitamin C.

It's been estimated that some 6,000,000 Americans have these aches and pains which generally aren't considered severe enough for treatment with steroids. Maybe these two new drugs will help

Internal Injections

Nystatin (derived from the words New York State) is an antifungal antibiotic for use in treating athlete's foot, ringworm and fungal infections of the tract.

In the past, many such infections have been difficult if not impossible to halt when inside the body.

Doctors report nystatin is also being combined with other antibiotics to increase their safety and usefulness. The drug was discovered by two New York scientists.

Recent Study

Furadantin, tests show, is effective in treating urinary tract infections. A study made by four Boston doctors, with the aid of a grant from the U. S. Public Health Service, shows that "most cases of acute or uncomplicated infections respond favorably" to the drug.

In most instances, the report adds, chronic and complicated infections also show some clinical improvement.

But it is of the utmost importance to realize these drugs, if indicated, should only be used under the advice and guidance of the physician.

Holiday Of Witches Passes

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Yesterday was the 29th of February, the holiday of witches.

Graciousness rode that day and lights all people born upon it who have a birthday only every four years.

But the 29th of February is also the reverse of Halloween. Witches don't zoom off into the yonder; they brake their brooms downward and become part of the party.

Typical witch talk at an earth party:

First witch (elderly): "Oh, I say the crowd sure has gone downhill since Shakespeare wrote about us, I must say."

Second witch (middle-aged): "You couldn't be more right, dearie. Ever since I lost my late husband (the poor devil) I've felt so. What's that, sir, are you in real estate, too? How unexpected. May I offer a suggestion on your new tenant rates?"

Third witch (young): "So many overpowering young men. What they see in me I really don't know or do I? Why of course, young man, I will dance with you. What is the rhythm, the polka, the turkey trot, or the rhumba. Oh, the waltz? The waltz any witch from any time remembers. Never mind leading me, I'll lead you—'da-da-da-da' —how can one forget it?—'da-da-da-da'—won't it go on forever?"

The music goes on and on as if it would never stop, and the first witch finally says:

"Listen, girls, we are losing our sense of social responsibility. At least under Shakespeare we knew where the next pot we could cast an asp into was coming from."

"Oh, don't be so professional," sighs the second witch, who was working into a fast early century fox trot. "I've just got my date at the point where he is telling me the sad story of his wife."

The music changes, switches to jitterbug, and the third witch's mouth flies open in the slack-jawed posture common to this form of art. Movement? Obvious. Conversation? Impossible.

Dawn cracks suddenly. The eldest witch cries, "Girl, you know we shouldn't be out after midnight."

All three witches mount brooms and fly away.

March the first.

Doctor's Report On Heart Trouble

By George Sokolsky

It is different when you lie in bed reading the doctors' report on Ike's coronary. You say to yourself that when your doctors show up, you'll demand the same kind of a report. I too have had something of the sort all along because my doctors are not the secretive kind and, more or less, come clean when asked a direct question. Also, I know how to blackmail them which is to threaten to mention their names in these writings. Most doctors fear that sort of mention although psychiatrists revel in it. The better doctors still avoid publicity as a form of advertising.

Having spent five weeks now with a coronary, let me tell you a few secrets that have come out in casual conversations. When a doctor tells you that you have five or 10 years or any period more of usefulness, he says more than he knows. Even the cardiogram cannot tell you anything of the sort. I was in very good physical shape just before I was hit down and, I understand, so was Ike. So a fellow has to assume that a coronary accident can happen to anyone, at any time, and go on about his business.

In effect that is what Ike's doctors were trying to say but there is so much mystery and mysticism about heart attacks that most people, particularly wives, take it all wrong. They assume that because a fellow got a knock, he is all finished; he should walk with a cane, go slowly, keep away from all excitement and everlastingly eat salt-free food. Did you notice that nothing of this was prescribed for Ike? I am sure that what they told him privately was that when he got tired, he should lie down and if possible take a nap — any time of the day.

Politicians are very selfish people, as a rule. They earn their living in a curious manner and many of them will rejoice that Ike is declared competent for five or 10 years, and others will secretly regret it because it will affect their fortunes. Actually, none of them know who will be dead or alive five years from now. I might have had a worse one than I did and I might have been dead and buried by now. No doctor can guarantee life; he can only try to cure ailments. No gathering of doctors and politicians can assure us that Ike or his adversary will win the race for life no matter who wins the race at the polls.

In a word, let us not make a publicity fiasco of the heart as has been made of other parts of the body by fund-raising schemes. The heart is too serious a business. It may yet be found by those who investigate that deep emotional factors play as great a role in a heart attack as any other cause, and if a man has a conscience, being President of the United States is as much as emotional trial as it is hard work.

I know that some of Mr. Eisenhower's friends are devising all sorts of ways and means to lighten his toil, but what can be done to lessen the spiritual travail of the soul that must know every major act may lead to the eventual defeat of his country and the abasement of our civilization? We, on the outside, cannot possibly know how devastating it is to have to deal with a brutal creature like Khrushchev or to know that there is no longer either honor or dignity in associations among the rulers of states. These and other immoralities that have entered our lives can literally break the heart of a man in Eisenhower's position. And there are many more things like that.

We may sometime or other get to know that the heart, while it may not be the seat of the emotions, as the poets believed, can be shocked by emotional excitement into having an accident, from which many recover. But no one can know whose turn it is to go and it seems uncommonly vulgar to speculate so much about Ike's health. He will either survive or he will not, but the United States will go on just as it has gone on after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Columbus GM Plant Plans Expansion

COLUMBUS (AP)—Officials of the Columbus General Motors plant have announced plans to employ about 2,000 additional workers next fall in a 75 per cent expansion of production capacity.

Resident Manager Paul L. Jones said additions now under construction will total about 626,000 square feet of floor space. At present, the plant employs about 4700 workers.

Hog Truck Rams Freight Caboose

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—A truck full of hogs smashed into the caboose of a freight train at a rural crossing yesterday. One man was hurt. Eight hogs were killed and several others were injured.

The crash south of Columbiana demolished the truck and sent the caboose tumbling off the tracks in flames. As the caboose burned, many pigs fled into nearby fields.

The truck driver, Virgil Gray, 44, of Indianapolis, said he saw the northbound train as he approached the crossing, but could not stop. He was not hurt.

Investigation Challenges Campaign Gifts

In localities like Fayette County not many people get the real picture of what goes on in Congress, or even in our own Ohio General Assembly in the way of pressure and political lobbying.

As a result in present congressional probe of the gas and oil lobby, which is now being enlarged to take in other lobby groups, few actual facts are known by the public.

Of course, all this is not new. Back over many years there have been investigations periodically, some of which have brought out startling disclosures, others have fallen flat. In some cases however where there were uncovered some real guilt, public reaction has been strong and usually ended with changes in law to make the improper use of pressure and money a serious offense with real punishment where violations are found.

What has happened to start off the present probe in Washington brings out a pattern of activities which are not unknown in past cases.

Naturally there should be no prejudgment, no accusation of guilt before the evidence is in; but the beginnings of the hearings certainly are similar to other beginnings. Sometimes the people wonder just how many times they must go through this unpleasant and trying experience.

The men in this particular affair may be cleared of all questionable dealing, their record may be proved to be entirely clean; but the evidence, so far, is that they used methods which have no place in good government.

Rumors of shady dealings have been common in Washington D. C. on many occasions. In the present case there were stories of pressure and of trades, political and financial. The whole thing was tarnished long before it came to the vote.

Sen. Case no sooner made his disclosure of the $2,500 campaign contribution than the rumors, heretofore whispered, were spoken aloud. Reports of other contributions and various transactions were detailed.

The whole method of contributing to campaign funds now is challenged. There are awakened doubts and insistent queries about the propriety of a public servant accepting vast sums for his campaign when, if elected, he necessarily is under obligation to the contributors of the money.

The lid may be off Pandora's box and the whole method of election may be forced into public scrutiny. It is right that it should be examined. Wherever pressure and political duress is discovered, it should be ended.

Holiday Of Witches Passes

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Yesterday was the 29th of February, the holiday of witches.

Graciousness rode that day and lights all people born upon it who have a birthday only every four years.

But the 29th of February is also the reverse of Halloween. Witches don't zoom off into the yonder; they brake their brooms downward and become part of the party.

Typical witch talk at an earth party:

First witch (elderly): "Oh, I say the crowd sure has gone downhill since Shakespeare wrote about us, I must say."

Second witch (middle-aged): "You couldn't be more right, dearie. Ever since I lost my late husband (the poor devil) I've felt so. What's that, sir, are you in real estate, too? How unexpected. May I offer a suggestion on your new tenant rates?"

Third witch (young): "So many overpowering young men. What they see in me I really don't know or do I? Why of course, young man, I will dance with you. What is the rhythm, the polka, the turkey trot, or the rhumba. Oh, the waltz? The waltz any witch from any time remembers. Never mind leading me, I'll lead you—'da-da-da-da'—how can one forget it?—'da-da-da-da'—won't it go on forever?"

The music goes on and on as if it would never stop, and the first witch finally says:

"Listen, girls, we are losing our sense of social responsibility. At least under Shakespeare we knew where the next pot we could cast an asp into was coming from."

"Oh, don't be so professional," sighs the second witch, who was working into a fast early century fox trot. "I've just got my date at the point where he is telling me the sad story of his wife."

The music changes, switches to jitterbug, and the third witch's mouth flies open in the slack-jawed posture common to this form of art. Movement? Obvious. Conversation? Impossible.

Dawn cracks suddenly. The eldest witch cries, "Girl, you know we shouldn't be out after midnight."

All three witches mount brooms and fly away.

March the first.

Doctor's Report On Heart Trouble

By George Sokolsky

It is different when you lie in bed reading the doctors' report on Ike's coronary. You say to yourself that when your doctors show up, you'll demand the same kind of a report. I too have had something of the sort all along because my doctors are not the secretive kind and, more or less, come clean when asked a direct question. Also, I know how to blackmail them which is to threaten to mention their names in these writings. Most doctors fear that sort of mention although psychiatrists revel in it. The better doctors still avoid publicity as a form of advertising.

Having spent five weeks now with a coronary, let me tell you a few secrets that have come out in casual conversations. When a doctor tells you that you have five or 10 years or any period more of usefulness, he says more than he knows. Even the cardiogram cannot tell you anything of the sort. I was in very good physical shape just before I was hit down and, I understand, so was Ike. So a fellow has to assume that a coronary accident can happen to anyone, at any time, and go on about his business.

In effect that is what Ike's doctors were trying to say but there is so much mystery and mysticism about heart attacks that, most people, particularly wives, take it all wrong. They assume that because a fellow got a knock, he is all finished; he should walk with a cane, go slowly, keep away from all excitement and everlastingly eat salt-free food. Did you notice that nothing of this was prescribed for Ike? I am sure that what they told him privately was that when he got tired, he should lie down and if possible take a nap — any time of the day.

Politicians are very selfish people, as a rule. They earn their living in a curious manner and many of them will rejoice that Ike is declared competent for five or 10 years, and others will secretly regret it because it will affect their fortunes. Actually, none of them know who will be dead or alive five years from now. I might have had a worse one than I did and I might have been dead and buried by now. No doctor can guarantee life; he can only try to cure ailments. No gathering of doctors and politicians can assure us that Ike or his adversary will win the race for life no matter who wins the race at the polls.

In a word, let us not make a publicity fiasco of the heart as has been made of other parts of the body by fund-raising schemes. The heart is too serious a business. It may yet be found by those who investigate that deep emotional factors play as great a role in a heart attack as any other cause, and if a man has a conscience, being President of the United States is as much as emotional trial as it is hard work.

I know that some of Mr. Eisenhower's friends are devising all sorts of ways and means to lighten his toil, but what can be done to lessen the spiritual travail of the soul that must know every major act may lead to the eventual defeat of his country and the abasement of our civilization? We, on the outside, cannot possibly know how devastating it is to have to deal with a brutal creature like Khrushchev or to know that there is no longer either honor or dignity in associations among the rulers of states. These and other immoralities that have entered our lives can literally break the heart of a man in Eisenhower's position. And there are many more things like that.

We may sometime or other get to know that the heart, while it may not be the seat of the emotions, as the poets believed, can be shocked by emotional excitement into having an accident, from which many recover. But no one can know whose turn it is to go and it seems uncommonly vulgar to speculate so much about Ike's health. He will either survive or he will not, but the United States will go on just as it has gone on after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Diet and Health

New Pain Relievers Now In Drug Field

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

New drugs for treating rheumatic diseases, fungal infections and infections of the urinary tract are among medicine's latest developments in the battle against health hazards.

For example, cordex, one of the new drugs, is designed for use in milk to moderate conditions of rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, gouty arthritis, bursitis, myositis, tenosynovitis, fibrostis and neuritis.

More Potent Form

IT combines prednisolone, a more potent form of hydrocortisone, with acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin). The drug offers both anti-inflammatory and paindeadening action.

Sigmagen is another new drug for use against gout, bursitis, lumbago and muscular rheumatism. It combines the anti-inflammatory action of meticorten with pain-relieving salicylates and vitamin C.

It's been estimated that some 6,000,000 Americans have these aches and pains which generally aren't considered severe enough for treatment with steroids. Maybe these two new drugs will help

Internal Injections

Nystatin (derived from the words New York State) is an antifungal antibiotic for use in treating athlete's foot, ringworm and fungal infections of the tract.

In the past, many such infections have been difficult if not impossible to halt when inside the body.

Doctors report nystatin is also being combined with other antibiotics to increase their safety and usefulness. The drug was discovered by two New York scientists.

Recent Study

Furadantin, tests show, is effective in treating urinary tract infections. A study made by four Boston doctors, with the aid of a grant from the U. S. Public Health Service, shows that "most cases of acute or uncomplicated infections respond favorably" to the drug.

In most instances, the report adds, chronic and complicated infections also show some clinical improvement.

But it is of the utmost importance to realize these drugs, if indicated, should only be used under the advice and guidance of the physician.

Hog Truck Rams Freight Caboose

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—A truck full of hogs smashed into the caboose of a freight train at a rural crossing yesterday. One man was hurt. Eight hogs were killed and several others were injured.

The crash south of Columbiana demolished the truck and sent the caboose tumbling off the tracks in flames. As the caboose burned, many pigs fled into nearby fields.

The truck driver, Virgil Gray, 44, of Indianapolis, said he saw the northbound train as he approached the crossing, but could not stop. He was not hurt.

Ohio GOPsters Confident Of Assembly Win

Republicans See Party Continuing Control Of State Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans express confidence they will elect majorities this year in both houses of the 1957 Legislature.

They base their optimism on a nose count of candidates in the May 8 primaries and on past successes in general elections favoring the GOP.

Only once since the 1937 Legislature have Democrats gained majorities. They held paper thin margins in the 1949 House and Senate.

Leaders said adoption of the Massachusetts type ballot, first used by Ohio in the 1950 election, made it doubly difficult for Democrats to win control of the General Assembly.

That type ballot, they explained, groups candidates for the offices sought and prevents "coat tail" riding that was prevalent in general elections under the old party-column ballot. Primary candidates appear on separate Democratic and Republican ballots.

Voters next November will elect 139 representatives and 34 senators. Republicans need 70 House seats and 18 in the Senate for control. The 1955 legislature had 136 house members and 33 senators. Republicans had 89 representatives and 21 senators last time.

Fractional apportionment under the 1950 census accounts for a larger 1957 General Assembly. Cuyahoga, Clark and Stark counties each will have one more representative. The 30th-33rd Senatorial District will have two senators instead of one. The district is composed of Ottawa, Sandusky, Erie, Huron, Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Wood and Hancock counties.

Democrats lack senatorial candidates in three districts, virtually assuring election of Republicans there. Unopposed by either Democrats or Republicans are Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville in the 9th 14th District and Ross Pepple of Lima in the 32nd. In the 7th-8th district, incumbent Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton is opposed for the GOP nomination by Rossiter S. Williams of Oak Hill, but Democrats lack a candidate in the district.

Incumbent Democrats Charles J. Carney and Stephen R. Olenick, both of Youngstown, are in a three-way race for two nominations in the 23rd District composed of Trumbull and Mahoning counties. Republicans have only one candidate in the district that usually goes Democratic.

Nineteen incumbent Republican senators and 11 Democratic incumbents seek re-election. Politicians generally give incumbents an edge in election contests.

On the House side, 89 Republican and 27 Democratic incumbents seek another term. Democrats lack candidates for a total of 19 House seats, giving Republicans that much of a head start.

Veteran legislators said that 50 so-called rural counties have elected Republicans consistently for the past decade.

'Childishness' In Grownups Blamed For Many Troubles

"The 20th Century has been upset by leaders with the childish attitudes of egoism, selfishness, aggressiveness and hostility," said Dr. John A. Schindler of Monroe, Wis.

"A mature society would recognize such immaturities before they could begin to do harm in high places."

Dr. Schindler, chairman of the department of internal medicine at the Monroe Clinic, told a convention of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals that currently "there is no organized attempt to teach maturity."

"What a man becomes, what happiness he can attain, is directly proportional to the degree of maturity he has learned," Dr. Schindler said. "The same is true of social groups.

"What they can hope to accomplish is entirely dependent upon the general maturity of the group, and especially the maturity of their leaders."

Dr. Schindler said that immature "emotional stress" produces "well over half of the physical disease that physicians are seeing."

"Much more important than mere physical disease is the tremendous amount of stress and unhappiness which immaturity generates in human individuals and society," he said.

Dr. Schindler said that maturity can be taught, but, he said, "practically no individual attains a well-rounded maturity."

Development of a concept of what maturity is, he said, may be the most important discovery of the present century.

"We stand on a new horizon which is the possibility of developing organized education toward the nurturing of individual maturity," he said. "This has already begun in education.

"The various compartments of maturity are extremely practical ways of handling the common life situations, and are to be presented to individuals in that light."

Leaders said adoption of the Massachusetts type ballot, first used by Ohio in the 1950 election, made it doubly difficult for Democrats to win control of the General Assembly.

That type ballot, they explained, groups candidates for the offices sought and prevents "coat tail" riding that was prevalent in general elections under the old party-column ballot. Primary candidates appear on separate Democratic and Republican ballots.

Voters next November will elect 139 representatives and 34 senators. Republicans need 70 House seats and 18 in the Senate for control. The 1955 legislature had 136 house members and 33 senators Republicans had 89 representatives and 21 senators last time.

Fractional apportionment under the 1950 census accounts for a larger 1957 General Assembly. Cuyahoga, Clark and Stark counties each will have one more representative. The 30th-33rd Senatorial District will have two senators instead of one. The district is composed of Ottawa, Sandusky, Erie, Huron, Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Wood and Hancock counties.

Democrats lack senatorial candidates in three districts, virtually assuring election of Republicans there. Unopposed by either Democrats or Republicans are Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville in the 9th 14th District and Ross Pepple of Lima in the 32nd. In the 7th-8th district, incumbent Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton is opposed for the GOP nomination by Rossiter S. Williams of Oak Hill, but Democrats lack a candidate in the district.

Incumbent Democrats Charles J. Carney and Stephen R. Olenick, both of Youngstown, are in a three-way race for two nominations in the 23rd District composed of Trumbull and Mahoning counties. Republicans have only one candidate in the district that usually goes Democratic.

Nineteen incumbent Republican senators and 11 Democratic incumbents seek re-election. Politicians generally give incumbents an edge in election contests.

On the House side, 89 Republican and 27 Democratic incumbents seek another term. Democrats lack candidates for a total of 19 House seats, giving Republicans that much of a head start.

Veteran legislators said that 50 so-called rural counties have elected Republicans consistently for the past decade.

'Childishness' In Grownups Blamed For Many Troubles

"The 20th Century has been upset by leaders with the childish attitudes of egoism, selfishness, aggressiveness and hostility," said Dr. John A. Schindler of Monroe, Wis.

"A mature society would recognize such immaturities before they could begin to do harm in high places."

Dr. Schindler, chairman of the department of internal medicine at the Monroe Clinic, told a convention of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals that currently "there is no organized attempt to teach maturity."

"What a man becomes, what happiness he can attain, is directly proportional to the degree of maturity he has learned," Dr. Schindler said. "The same is true of social groups.

"What they can hope to accomplish is entirely dependent upon the general maturity of the group, and especially the maturity of their leaders."

Dr. Schindler said that immature "emotional stress" produces "well over half of the physical disease that physicians are seeing."

"Much more important than mere physical disease is the tremendous amount of stress and unhappiness which immaturity generates in human individuals and society," he said.

Dr. Schindler said that maturity can be taught, but, he said, "practically no individual attains a well-rounded maturity."

Development of a concept of what maturity is, he said, may be the most important discovery of the present century.

"We stand on a new horizon which is the possibility of developing organized education toward the nurturing of individual maturity," he said. "This has already begun in education.

"The various compartments of maturity are extremely practical ways of handling the common life situations, and are to be presented to individuals in that light."

Investigation Challenges Campaign Gifts

In localities like Fayette County not many people get the real picture of what goes on in Congress, or even in our own Ohio General Assembly in the way of pressure and political lobbying.

As a result in present congressional probe of the gas and oil lobby, which is now being enlarged to take in other lobby groups, few actual facts are known by the public.

Of course, all this is not new. Back over many years there have been investigations periodically, some of which have brought out startling disclosures, others have fallen flat. In some cases however where there were uncovered some real guilt, public reaction has been strong and usually ended with changes in law to make the improper use of pressure and money a serious offense with real punishment where violations are found.

What has happened to start off the present probe in Washington brings out a pattern of activities which are not unknown in past cases.

Naturally there should be no prejudgment, no accusation of guilt before the evidence is in; but the beginnings of the hearings certainly are similar to other beginnings. Sometimes the people wonder just how many times they must go through this unpleasant and trying experience.

The men in this particular affair may be cleared of all questionable dealing, their record may be proved to be entirely clean; but the evidence, so far, is that they used methods which have no place in good government.

Rumors of shady dealings have been common in Washington D. C. on many occasions. In the present case there were stories of pressure and of trades, political and financial. The whole thing was tarnished long before it came to the vote.

Sen. Case no sooner made his disclosure of the $2,500 campaign contribution than the rumors, heretofore whispered, were spoken aloud. Reports of other contributions and various transactions were detailed.

The whole method of contributing to campaign funds now is challenged. There are awakened doubts and insistent queries about the propriety of a public servant accepting vast sums for his campaign when, if elected, he necessarily is under obligation to the contributors of the money.

The lid may be off Pandora's box and the whole method of election may be forced into public scrutiny. It is right that it should be examined. Wherever pressure and political duress is discovered, it should be ended.

Holiday Of Witches Passes

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Yesterday was the 29th of February, the holiday of witches.

Graciousness rode that day and lights all people born upon it who have a birthday only every four years.

But the 29th of February is also the reverse of Halloween. Witches don't zoom off into the yonder; they brake their brooms downward and become part of the party.

Typical witch talk at an earth party:

First witch (elderly): "Oh, I say the crowd sure has gone downhill since Shakespeare wrote about us, I must say."

Second witch (middle-aged): "You couldn't be more right, dearie. Ever since I lost my late husband (the poor devil) I've felt so. What's that, sir, are you in real estate, too? How unexpected. May I offer a suggestion on your new tenant rates?"

Third witch (young): "So many overpowering young men. What they see in me I really don't know or do I? Why of course, young man, I will dance with you. What is the rhythm, the polka, the turkey trot, or the rhumba. Oh, the waltz? The waltz any witch from any time remembers. Never mind leading me, I'll lead you—'da-da-da-da' —how can one forget it?—'da-da-da-da'—won't it go on forever?"

The music goes on and on as if it would never stop, and the first witch finally says:

"Listen, girls, we are losing our sense of social responsibility. At least under Shakespeare we knew where the next pot we could cast an asp into was coming from."

"Oh, don't be so professional," sighs the second witch, who was working into a fast early century fox trot. "I've just got my date at the point where he is telling me the sad story of his wife."

The music changes, switches to jitterbug, and the third witch's mouth flies open in the slack-jawed posture common to this form of art. Movement? Obvious. Conversation? Impossible.

Dawn cracks suddenly. The eldest witch cries, "Girl, you know we shouldn't be out after midnight."

All three witches mount brooms and fly away.

March the first.

Doctor's Report On Heart Trouble

By George Sokolsky

It is different when you lie in bed reading the doctors' report on Ike's coronary. You say to yourself that when your doctors show up, you'll demand the same kind of a report. I too have had something of the sort all along because my doctors are not the secretive kind and, more or less, come clean when asked a direct question. Also, I know how to blackmail them which is to threaten to mention their names in these writings. Most doctors fear that sort of mention although psychiatrists revel in it. The better doctors still avoid publicity as a form of advertising.

Having spent five weeks now with a coronary, let me tell you a few secrets that have come out in casual conversations. When a doctor tells you that you have five or 10 years or any period more of usefulness, he says more than he knows. Even the cardiogram cannot tell you anything of the sort. I was in very good physical shape just before I was hit down and, I understand, so was Ike. So a fellow has to assume that a coronary accident can happen to anyone, at any time, and go on about his business.

In effect that is what Ike's doctors were trying to say but there is so much mystery and mysticism about heart attacks that most people, particularly wives, take it all wrong. They assume that because a fellow got a knock, he is all finished; he should walk with a cane, go slowly, keep away from all excitement and everlastingly eat salt-free food. Did you notice that nothing of this was prescribed for Ike? I am sure that what they told him privately was that when he got tired, he should lie down and if possible take a nap — any time of the day.

Politicians are very selfish people, as a rule. They earn their living in a curious manner and many of them will rejoice that Ike is declared competent for five or 10 years, and others will secretly regret it because it will affect their fortunes. Actually, none of them know who will be dead or alive five years from now. I might have had a worse one than I did and I might have been dead and buried by now. No doctor can guarantee life; he can only try to cure ailments. No gathering of doctors and politicians can assure us that Ike or his adversary will win the race for life no matter who wins the race at the polls.

In a word, let us not make a publicity fiasco of the heart as has been made of other parts of the body by fund-raising schemes. The heart is too serious a business. It may yet be found by those who investigate that deep emotional factors play as great a role in a heart attack as any other cause, and if a man has a conscience, being President of the United States is as much as emotional trial as it is hard work.

I know that some of Mr. Eisenhower's friends are devising all sorts of ways and means to lighten his toil, but what can be done to lessen the spiritual travail of the soul that must know every major act may lead to the eventual defeat of his country and the abasement of our civilization? We, on the outside, cannot possibly know how devastating it is to have to deal with a brutal creature like Khrushchev or to know that there is no longer either honor or dignity in associations among the rulers of states. These and other immoralities that have entered our lives can literally break the heart of a man in Eisenhower's position. And there are many more things like that.

We may sometime or other get to know that the heart, while it may not be the seat of the emotions, as the poets believed, can be shocked by emotional excitement into having an accident, from which many recover. But no one can know whose turn it is to go and it seems uncommonly vulgar to speculate so much about Ike's health. He will either survive or he will not, but the United States will go on just as it has gone on after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

New Pain Relievers Now In Drug Field

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

New drugs for treating rheumatic diseases, fungal infections and infections of the urinary tract are among medicine's latest developments in the battle against health hazards.

For example, cordex, one of the new drugs, is designed for use in milk to moderate conditions of rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, gouty arthritis, bursitis, myositis, tenosynovitis, fibrostis and neuritis.

More Potent Form

IT combines prednisolone, a more potent form of hydrocortisone, with acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin). The drug offers both anti-inflammatory and paindeadening action.

Sigmagen is another new drug for use against gout, bursitis, lumbago and muscular rheumatism. It combines the anti-inflammatory action of meticorten with pain-relieving salicylates and vitamin C.

It's been estimated that some 6,000,000 Americans have these aches and pains which generally aren't considered severe enough for treatment with steroids. Maybe these two new drugs will help.

Internal Injections

Nystatin (derived from the words New York State) is an antifungal antibiotic for use in treating athlete's foot, ringworm and fungal infections of the tract.

In the past, many such infections have been difficult if not impossible to halt when inside the body.

Doctors report nystatin is also being combined with other antibiotics to increase their safety and usefulness. The drug was discovered by two New York scientists.

Recent Study

Furadantin, tests show, is effective in treating urinary tract infections. A study made by four Boston doctors, with the aid of a grant from the U. S. Public Health Service, shows that "most cases of acute or uncomplicated infections respond favorably" to the drug.

In most instances, the report adds, chronic and complicated infections also show some clinical improvement.

But it is of the utmost importance to realize these drugs, if indicated, should only be used under the advice and guidance of the physician.

Hog Truck Rams Freight Caboose

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—A truck full of hogs smashed into the caboose of a freight train at a rural crossing yesterday. One man was hurt. Eight hogs were killed and several others were injured.

The crash south of Columbiana demolished the truck and sent the caboose tumbling off the tracks in flames. As the caboose burned, many pigs fled into nearby fields.

The truck driver, Virgil Gray, 44, of Indianapolis, said he saw the northbound train as he approached the crossing, but could not stop. He was not hurt.

The tempting meal was served buffet from a long table centered with a low arrangement of yellow mums and Japanese iris and small tables throughout the home seated the nineteen members for a delightful luncheon hour.

The meeting was opened with the praying of the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. L. M. Tarbell, vice president, who also conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Tarbell read an article entitled "Results and Roses" which was followed with the usual reports.

Roll call was responded to by members naming a vine or shrub that can be pruned in the spring.

Announcement was made of a meeting on the "Plant Ohio Tree" program to be held at the Farm Bureau auditorium, March 14 at 1:30 P. M.

Mrs. Glenn Robinson was voted an honorary member of the club and the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Glenn Grimes, who gave a paper entitled "What's New In Chemicals".

Mrs. Grimes named several new flowers and trees listed in the 1956 Catalogs, one tree especially stressed was the sunburst thornless Locust, which is ideal for a yard around a spacious home, due to the height it attains and no thorns or seed pods are attached to this tree.

Mrs. Irvin Yeoman read an article "What's Ahead In Gardening" in which she pointed out that the most important garden news for 1956 will be the beginning of a research program exclusively for the home gardener.

Mrs. Yeoman also spoke of soil pests which may be controlled by soil insecticide and the once a year fertilizer, chemicals which will utilize water in the ground, and in the family of chemicals she named a new drug, Kinethin, which is under exploration as a cure for cancer, and worked with in plant life.

Garden research brings new facts in its own field Mrs. Yeoman stated and often new surprises are found, facts being turned up in medicine, agriculture and industry are determining the future and progress of gardening.

During the afternoon round robin cards were sent to Mrs. Herbert Louis, secretary and Mrs. Cliff Hughes, president of the club, who are ill.

Ohio GOPsters Confident Of Assembly Win

Republicans See Party Continuing Control Of State Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans express confidence they will elect majorities this year in both houses of the 1957 Legislature.

They base their optimism on a nose count of candidates in the May 8 primaries and on past successes in general elections favoring the GOP.

Only once since the 1937 Legislature have Democrats gained majorities. They held paper thin margins in the 1949 House and Senate.

Leaders said adoption of the Massachusetts - type ballot, first used by Ohio in the 1950 election, made it doubly difficult for Democrats to win control of the General Assembly.

That type ballot, they explained, groups candidates for the offices sought and prevents "coat tail" riding that was prevalent in general elections under the old party-column ballot. Primary candidates appear on separate Democratic and Republican ballots.

Voters next November will elect 139 representatives and 34 senators. Republicans need 70 House seats and 18 in the Senate for control. The 1955 legislature had 136 house members and 33 senators. Republicans had 89 representatives and 21 senators last time.

Fractional apportionment under the 1950 census accounts for a larger 1957 General Assembly. Cuyahoga, Clark and Stark counties each will have one more representative. The 30th-33rd Senatorial District will have two senators instead of one. The district is composed of Ottawa, Sandusky, Erie, Huron, Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Wood and Hancock counties.

Democrats lack senatorial candidates in three districts, virtually assuring election of Republicans there. Unopposed by either Democrats or Republicans are Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville in the 9th 14th District and Ross Pepple of Lima in the 32nd. In the 7th-8th district, incumbent Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton is opposed for the GOP nomination by Rossiter S. Williams of Oak Hill, but Democrats lack a candidate in the district.

Incumbent Democrats Charles J. Carney and Stephen R. Olenick, both of Youngstown, are in a three-way race for two nominations in the 23rd District composed of Trumbull and Mahoning counties. Republicans have only one candidate in the district that usually goes Democratic.

Nineteen incumbent Republican senators and 11 Democratic incumbents seek re-election. Politicians generally give incumbents an edge in election contests.

On the House side, 89 Republican and 27 Democratic incumbents seek another term. Democrats lack candidates for a total of 19 House seats, giving Republicans that much of a head start.

Veteran legislators said that 50 so-called rural counties have elected Republicans consistently for the past decade.

'Childishness' In Grownups Blamed For Many Troubles

"The 20th Century has been upset by leaders with the childish attitudes of egoism, selfishness, aggressiveness and hostility," said Dr. John A. Schindler of Monroe, Wis.

"A mature society would recognize such immaturities before they could begin to do harm in high places."

Dr. Schindler, chairman of the department of internal medicine at the Monroe Clinic, told a convention of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals that currently "there is no organized attempt to teach maturity."

"What a man becomes, what happiness he can attain, is directly proportional to the degree of maturity he has learned," Dr. Schindler said. "The same is true of social groups.

"What they can hope to accomplish is entirely dependent upon the general maturity of the group, and especially the maturity of their leaders."

Dr. Schindler said that immature "emotional stress" produces "well over half of the physical disease that physicians are seeing."

"Much more important than mere physical disease is the tremendous amount of stress and unhappiness which immaturity generates in human individuals and society," he said.

Dr. Schindler said that maturity can be taught, but, he said, "practically no individual attains a well-rounded maturity."

Development of a concept of what maturity is, he said, may be the most important discovery of the present century.

"We stand on a new horizon which is the possibility of developing organized education toward the nurturing of individual maturity," he said. "This has already begun in education.

"The various compartments of maturity are extremely practical ways of handling the common life situations, and are to be presented to individuals in that light."

Miss Swengel Is Honored At Farewell Event

Miss Nancy Hurtt and Miss Mary Chakeres entertained at a lovely farewell party for Miss Susan Swengel, Wednesday evening, at the home of Miss Hurtt.

The event was planned and cleverly carried out as a complete surprise to Miss Swengel, who leaves soon with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Clinton W. Swengel, for Fullerton, California, to make their home.

The honor guest by pre-arranged plans, arrived at the Hurtt home, for an evening call and was greeted by a group of close friends, who sang "Auld Lang Syne", and "Happy Birthday" to also remind her of her seventeenth birthday anniversary, which will be an event of the coming week.

Miss Swengel quickly gained her composure and entered into the round of games of surage and Canasta, and at the close of play each guest was presented with a lovely favor by the hostesses.

Later the girls found their places at small tables and the table seating the honor guest was centered with a beautifully decorated cake which was surrounded with the lovely farewell gifts from the group.

Following the opening of the gifts and a gracious response by the honor guest, she also spoke of her pleasant year as a junior at Washington C. H. High School, and of the close association with this group of classmates.

Methodists Put Out Series Of Dramas For Television

NEW YORK (AP)—The Methodist Church has launched a series of dramatic television programs that should have a wider appeal than any TV dramas yet produced under the leadership of any church.

In both concept and execution the series of 13 films entitled "The Way" represents a significant step in organized religion's growing consciousness of the TV medium. The series shuns preaching, is nondenominational in its appeal, and is solely concerned with dramatizing various aspects of Christian principles of living.

The series is offered free to any TV station anywhere with only these provisions: They will be shown in specified sequence at any desired regular weekly time except an hour that might interfere with church attendance. There shall be no commercial in connection with them—not even a "Go to church."

The first drama, "An Eye for an Eye," was shown here last Saturday afternoon on the ABC network's local station. Distinguished by superior acting, it told this story:

A gang of boys wreck a church recreation room. The minister, a calm, strong man, loses an eye when the boys gang up on him as he tries to restore order. The police regard the boys as "wild animals" who cannot be tamed; to fail to prosecute them, the police maintain, is to turn their viciousness loose on society. But the minister opposes prosecution. At his request the boys are released in probation in his custody. The failures and the success are delineated in down-to-earth fashion.

Dinner Precedes Meeting Of Garden Club

The March meeting of the Pic-Fay Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. T. C. Gooley in New Holland was highlighted with a delicious covered dish luncheon, with Mrs. William T. Woods and Mrs. A. F. Kahler as assisting hostesses.

The tempting meal was served buffet from a long table centered with a low arrangement of yellow mums and Japanese iris and small tables throughout the home seated the nineteen members for a delightful luncheon hour.

The meeting was opened with the praying of the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. L. M. Tarbell, vice president, who also conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Tarbell read an article entitled "Results and Roses" which was followed with the usual reports.

Roll call was responded to by members naming a vine or shrub that can be pruned in the spring.

Announcement was made of a meeting on the "Plant Ohio Tree" program to be held at the Farm Bureau auditorium, March 14 at 1:30 P. M.

Mrs. Glenn Robinson was voted an honorary member of the club and the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Glenn Grimes, who gave a paper entitled "What's New In Chemicals".

Mrs. Grimes named several new flowers and trees listed in the 1956 Catalogs, one tree especially stressed was the sunburst thornless Locust, which is ideal for a yard around a spacious home, due to the height it attains and no thorns or seed pods are attached to this tree.

Mrs. Irvin Yeoman read an article "What's Ahead In Gardening" in which she pointed out that the most important garden news for 1956 will be the beginning of a research program exclusively for the home gardener.

Mrs. Yeoman also spoke of soil pests which may be controlled by soil insecticide and the once a year fertilizer, chemicals which will utilize water in the ground, and in the family of chemicals she named a new drug, Kinethin, which is under exploration as a cure for cancer, and worked with in plant life.

Garden research brings new facts in its own field Mrs. Yeoman stated and often new surprises are found, facts being turned up in medicine, agriculture and industry are determining the future and progress of gardening.

During the afternoon round robin cards were sent to Mrs. Herbert Louis, secretary and Mrs. Cliff Hughes, president of the club, who are ill.

Albers
SUPER MARKETS

It makes sense to me. In buying hats or furniture or foods or anything, you can shop better to fit your needs and your pocketbook when you choose from several different qualities and price ranges.

For instance, canned tomatoes that are whole, round, perfect are naturally best to show off in a salad. But why not buy the budget grade equally good tasting (but not as firm or whole) to put into a meat sauce or casserole?

Albers gives us a choice of grades of meat as well as canned goods. When I want a tender juicy steak to broil, I choose the best quality — Natur-Tender. When I'm planning a pot roast or stew or steak smothered in onions, I come out just as well buying Budget Beef — and I save money! Again Albers reads our minds! They know we women are most interested in spending our money to greatest advantage, whether we spend a little or a lot.

"NATUR-TENDER"

The same as the famous Albers "TenderBeef" is government graded U. S. Choice or better — top quality beef from young scientifically fed beef cattle. All excess waste and fat is trimmed before weighing, leaving only the tastiest, tenderest beef money can buy. For the best choose — NATUR-TENDER . . . NO FINER BEEF ANYWHERE.

"BUDGET" BEEF

is government graded U. S. Good or Commercial. Best Cooked with moist heat, it offers just as much plain good eating and nutritional value as higher priced grades. If it's economy you're looking for, choose — BUDGET BEEF . . . NO BETTER BUY ANYWHERE!

Miss Swengel Is Honored At Farewell Event

The event was planned and cleverly carried out as a complete surprise to Miss Swengel, who leaves soon with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Clinton W. Swengel, for Fullerton, California, to make their home.

The honor guest by pre-arranged plans, arrived at the Hurtt home, for an evening call and was greeted by a group of close friends, who sang "Auld Lang Syne", and "Happy Birthday" to also remind her of her seventeenth birthday anniversary, which will be an event of the coming week.

Miss Swengel quickly gained her composure and entered into the round of games of surage and Canasta, and at the close of play each guest was presented with a lovely favor by the hostesses.

Later the girls found their places at small tables and the table seating the honor guest was centered with a beautifully decorated cake which was surrounded with the lovely farewell gifts from the group.

Following the opening of the gifts and a gracious response by the honor guest, she also spoke of her pleasant year as a junior at Washington C. H. High School, and of the close association with this group of classmates.

Methodists Put Out Series Of Dramas For Television

NEW YORK (AP)—The Methodist Church has launched a series of dramatic television programs that should have a wider appeal than any TV dramas yet produced under the leadership of any church.

In both concept and execution the series of 13 films entitled "The Way" represents a significant step in organized religion's growing consciousness of the TV medium. The series shuns preaching, is nondenominational in its appeal, and is solely concerned with dramatizing various aspects of Christian principles of living.

The series is offered free to any TV station anywhere with only these provisions: They will be shown in specified sequence at any desired regular weekly time except an hour that might interfere with church attendance. There shall be no commercial in connection with them—not even a "Go to church."

The first drama, "An Eye for an Eye," was shown here last Saturday afternoon on the ABC network's local station. Distinguished by superior acting, it told this story:

A gang of boys wreck a church recreation room. The minister, a calm, strong man, loses an eye when the boys gang up on him as he tries to restore order. The police regard the boys as "wild animals" who cannot be tamed; to fail to prosecute them, the police maintain, is to turn their viciousness loose on society. But the minister opposes prosecution. At his request the boys are released in probation in his custody. The failures and the success are delineated in down-to-earth fashion.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been married, and recently divorced. Shortly after my wife and I separated I met a young woman at a church event. She didn't impress me much at first, but as our acquaintance ripened, I fell in love with her. I feel I should like to marry her.

At the time I met Edith, I was trying to patch things up with my wife, who was being stubborn and ill advised. Wanting to be fair with Edith, I told her the facts and said I would keep her posted. If the marriage was finished, I wanted to see her again. I had been lonely, despondent and on the verge of a breakdown before we met; but her society renewed my faith in life and I let things take their course. My wife divorced me.

At first Edith kept me at a distance, but since my divorce her friendship has grown. She has changed so much, and has been so warm and decent and kind, that I am very much in love with her. We ride together, go to church and parties together and visit her friends or mine; and our friends seem to be taking for granted that an engagement is pending or forthcoming.

Fears Refusal

I have spoken of marriage to Edith, but haven't directly proposed. How long should I wait, do you think, before I tackle the subject seriously? I feel that Edith has developed more than just friendship for me; and yet I am afraid if I ask her now, she might refuse, and I will become disgusted and break off.

We are both fully mature and should know our respective minds; and Edith is a very fine person who can make decisions. But you understand that once a person's confidence has been shaken, he needs guidance as to the next step. I don't want to make a social or ethical blunder. I should like to propose; but not too soon.

DEAR L. B.: You say if you were to be turned down by Edith now, you might get disgusted and break off. And, this, despite the fact that you feel very much in love with her. So you are being anxiously careful about your next step, hoping to avoid any possible blunder.

All of which suggests that you need a good deal of help, to give you a chance at being happily married—whether to Edith or another woman.

Your essential problem, as I sense it, has to do with being a pretty rigid and defensive fellow, behind your well meaning air, in the field of human relations.

Real love is openhearted, devoted and tender; it is humble, without counting the cost. It is outgoing and cooperative in spirit. It is disposed to understand and sympathize and aid. It is other-centered, and not selfishly watchful or wary, as if fending with a potential adversary. It anticipates good, works for the best, and "endureth all things" (as Scripture says), for the beloved's sake.

Had this been your attitude, your pattern of feeling and reacting in marriage, it isn't likely that your wife would have obtained a divorce.

If you hope to marry Edith, speak out—as soon as you are legally eligible. And don't be afraid to discuss all pros and cons of your feelings with her. Development of such reciprocity is essential to making a worthwhile marriage. As an aid to inner clarification, read "The Mind Alive" (Norton), by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet.

These sales are 16 percent below January of 1955 which was the highest first month since 1945.

January sales for Fayette County were $25,050 for a decrease of $68,256 over the same month a year ago.

Hood pointed out that while sales of E and H Bonds in 1955 reached the highest peak since the end of World War II, Ohio had received an eight million dollar increase in sales quota for 1956. This is in proportion to the national increase in sales goals.

Counties leading the state in percentage of quota achievement were Holmes, Mercer and Champaigne with Mahoning, Summit, Lucas and Franklin counties taking over the van among the industrial counties.

4-H Club Activities

WAYNE PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

The pest hunt will run through March, with first and second prizes for the winners and a party for the winners put on by the losers.

Points will be given for pests eliminated. For example, five points will be given for each mouse, 10 for each rat, 100 for a weasel, 200 for a fox and 10 for a starling.

The group plans to present the club gavel to the Junior Fair Board.

The fish fry will be held March 30 at the Wayne Hall to raise funds for the club. The public will be invited.

Ronnie Geesling started the meeting with the 4-H pledge. Nancy McFadden gave the secretary's report and, in the absence of Margaret Johnson, the treasurer's report was given by Billy Herman.

The members, about 30 boys and girls, plan to get a banner with the name of the club for the township hall.

The group, which is working on livestock projects of all kinds, has scheduled its next meeting for March 15.

Employment Office Sets Record Here for Job Placements in Year

The Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office here shattered records with the number of placements made in 1955, according to Ward Miller, head of the office in Washington C. H.

There were 1,359 job placements made last year, Miller said, the highest figure since 1945. This tops the previous high during World War II.

There are usually about 950 placements made during a year, he stated, with perhaps 1,000 if business is up. The 1,359 placements is a new high.

Breaking that down, 361 jobs for Fayette County residents were found in the manufacturing field. The bulk of the placements were in non-manufacturing industries. There were 478 jobs filled in agriculture, the highest single type of job placement made.

Wholesale and retail business called for 248 jobs, with 47 placements in mining, finance and utilities and 49 in construction.

The figures do not necessarily represent particular individuals, since one person may receive several temporary jobs during the course of one year, especially if the jobs are seasonal.

* * *

COMMENTING ON the job of the Unemployment Service office here, Miller stated that as the figures show, the office does more than pay claims to people who are out of work. It also helps them find jobs.

In the past, and in some other areas, the state unemployment office was considered a last-ditch arrangement, the place to go when nothing else worked.

But since World War II, when employment was controlled for defense purposes and workers channelled through state offices, the unemployment service office has become the first stop for both employers and workers here.

Fayette County has a different situation than most highly industrialized, high - population areas where the union hiring is the place employers look for labor.

There are no commercial employment offices here, no hiring halls, no union locals—the three mainstays of big - city workers.

So when a Fayette County person needs a job—from part - time book - keeping to a permanent farmhand spot—he turns to the Unemployment Service office for help.

"In the last 10 years," Miller stated, "this had come to be the first place for anyone looking for a job. If we don't have it, we can find out where is is."

The type of occupation plays an important role in the way people go about looking for a job.

The number of placements here in non-manufacturing jobs—998 out of 1,359—and the number of placements in agriculture—478—indicate that Fayette County residents can not depend upon the big-city job-hunting methods. They do not apply here.

Throughout Ohio, Miller said, the Unemployment Compensation offices are becoming more effective and respected as good places to find work or workers.

Cleveland, for example, has a total of five offices, one of them exclusively for professional people.

* * *

THE BUREAU offices throughout Ohio are plagued now with widespread shortages of men and women in key occupations. Fayette County has a skilled-help problem of its own, Miller said, but it is nothing unusual for the county.

Machinists and tool and die makers and setters can be located from the office here, either in this county or elsewhere nearby.

Miller said that at this time of year jobs are a bit scarce. There are a lot of workers who live here and work elsewhere, he said, who are receiving unemployment aid through the office here.

But the claim load is not as high this year as it was last. There are over 100 fewer applicants for unemployment compensation this winter and no employers are laying off workers.

It is mainly the construction workers who are hit in the winter months, Miller said. From November through about the first half of March workers whose jobs call for temprate weather are left literally out in the cold.

The word "construction" involves more than just building trades workers, he explained. It also means road and bridge construction and other work that calls for unfrozen ground and relatively dry weather.

He said that July, August and September are the busiest months in Fayette County. That is the time of the year when construction and agriculture hit their peak in manpower demand.

"ITS SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Historical Society Meeting on Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Fayette County Historical Society will be held Tuesday at 7:30 P. M. at the home of the president, George Pensyl and Mrs. Pensyl, 605 South North Street.

Announcement is made that interesting reports showing progress of the society the past year, will be given, and the annual election of officers will be held.

During the past year the society has lost two of its officers, one by death and the other by ill health.

Valdo R. McCoy who died last year, was a trustee of the society, and Miss Elizabeth Johnson, efficient treasurer since the organization was launched, recently resigned on account of ill health.

Plans for the future of the society will be discussed at the meeting, and refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Commission Power Cited In Ruling

COLUMBUS (AP) — Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that a county welfare director could abolish civil service jobs in his department only with consent of county commissioners.

The opinion to the State Civil Service Commission said a 1947 law gave commissioners complete control of welfare departments.

The opinion explained that the power of commissioners to create positions in a welfare department implied the authority to control the abolition of jobs.

Albers
SUPER MARKETS

It makes sense to me. In buying hats or furniture or foods or anything, you can shop better to fit your needs and your pocketbook when you choose from several different qualities and price ranges.

For instance, canned tomatoes that are whole, round, perfect are naturally best to show off in a salad. But why not buy the budget grade equally good tasting (but not as firm or whole) to put into a meat sauce or casserole?

Albers gives us a choice of grades of meat as well as canned goods. When I want a tender juicy steak to broil, I choose the best quality — Natur-Tender. When I'm planning a pot roast or stew or steak smothered in onions, I come out just as well buying Budget Beef — and I save money! Again Albers reads our minds! They know we women are most interested in spending our money to greatest advantage, whether we spend a little or a lot.

"NATUR-TENDER"

The same as the famous Albers "TenderBeef" is government graded U. S. Choice or better — top quality beef from young scientifically fed beef cattle. All excess waste and fat is trimmed before weighing, leaving only the tastiest, tenderest beef money can buy. For the best choose — NATUR-TENDER . . . NO FINER BEEF ANYWHERE.

"BUDGET" BEEF

is government graded U. S. Good or Commercial. Best Cooked with moist heat, it offers just as much plain good eating and nutritional value as higher priced grades. If it's economy you're looking for, choose — BUDGET BEEF . . . NO BETTER BUY ANYWHERE!

He Has Touchy Assignment: Tell 11 Girls About Women

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The least envied man among film directors is David Miller, who has the touchy task of guiding 11 actresses in a movie about women.

Miller, 25-year veteran of film making despite his youngish looks, is directing "The Opposite Sex." It's a modern, musicalized version of "The Women," written by the Ambassador to Italy, Clare Booth Luce. Now well into the shooting, Miller says his dolls are happy as clams.

Such was not the case in the first filming of the play (1939). It starred such high-powered people as Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Rosalind Russell, Joan Fontaine, etc. Reports are that the queens would vie to see who could arrive on the set last.

The new version has such figures are June Allyson, Ann Sheridan, Joan Collins, Dolores Gray, Ann Miller, Joan Blondell, Vivienne Segal, Barbara Jo Allen (Vera Vague) and Alice Pearce.

"We haven't had any problems," remarked Director Miller, not even pausing to knock on wood. "All the girls have been as nice as they can be.

"Of course, I took pains to see that there would be no cause for irritation. In the matter of wardrobe, the finest of fabrics and designs were chosen for each of them. Each was asked if she was satisfied with her clothes, and efforts were made to follow whatever suggestions they had."

This was confirmed by designer Helen Rose, who was passing by. "I had no real problems," she said.

"Before production started," Miller added, "I had them come to my office individually and rehearse their parts. I wanted them to understand and be satisfied with their characterizations. In a picture with so many characters, you're apt to lose sight of some of them if they're not firmly in mind beforehand."

Actresses sometimes blow up if they find another star has a bigger dressing room. Miller said he solved that by ordering 11 dressing rooms all the same size.

What about the danger of the girls' trying to outwait each other in reporting to the set?

"We have a system that solves that," the director explained. "When the cameraman figures it will be five minutes until he is ready to shoot, we notify the actresses I've told them that the sooner they report, the more time we'll have to rehearse, thus helping th picture. They have all cooperated."

Test Results Given Parents

New Holland School Heads Get Replies

New Holland was the scene of a diphtheria scare in December, after the death of a 10-year old school pupil, Lawrence Neil Funk.

Throat swab checks of the students and school personnel were made then by the state Department of Health and the Pickaway County Health Department. The checks for the presence of diphtheria calmed the fears of worried parents when the officials reported "not a single" case of active diphtheria.

Pickaway County and Ohio Health Department officials, worried by the outbreak in spite of immunization shots given as routine treatment, decided to check out the students for immunity.

They did, testing approximately 225 youngsters in the first eight grades for their ability to fight the disease.

• • •

ACCORDING to Kenneth Craig, New Holland school superintendent, 28 children reacted "completely positive" to the immunization test and 11 reacted "weakly positive."

Which means that 39 out of about 225 students need further treatment to prevent the disease. Their bodies have not built the necessary defenses.

Craig explained that, although immunization inoculations are given regularly by the county Health Department, it is not always possible to tell who has and who has not had shots, since the student body is continually changing.

Parents of the 39 who are susceptible to the disease in one way or another have been sent letters informing tham that the youngsters need treatment.

The Pickaway County Health Department does not plan to do the inoculation unless the family cannot afford to go to a family physician. Officials feel that the family doctor would know more about the individual and family medical history and be able to devote more time to a physical check of the child.

It was pointed out that a positive reaction to the immunization check might indicate more than just susceptibility to diphtheria.

At any rate, there may be medical factors involved which the county health department does not know about.

New Holland parents who have not received word on the check were informed that all is well with their child.

Since letters were sent only to those parents whose children had a reaction, failure to receive a letter serves as an "all clear" signal.

Truckers Taking To Free Highways

COLUMBUS (AP) — The commercial hauler seems to have driven automobiles off free roads and onto the Northern Ohio Turnpike, the chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission has told Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

This has resulted in making county, state and U. S. highways "free, private right of way" for commercial truckers, says the chairman, James Shocknessy.

Shocknessy gave his views in a letter to the governor that recounted the steps the commission has taken to attract truckers to the turnpike. Some truckers claim tolls charged are too high to make using the turnpike economical.

Fathers, Men Over 26 Told Their Draft Calls Postponed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If you are a father or are about to become one, your induction into military service will continue to be delayed. The same holds true for men over 26 and "specialists" like scientists and engineers.

This was announced Wednesday by Col. Harold L. Hays, director of Selective Service for Ohio.

Delays or postponements of induction in these categories were temporary the past several months while procedures were clarified, Hays said.

While the great bulk of the registrants in these categories will be retained in Class 1-A, 1-A-O or 1-O, "their selection for further processing will be delayed," he added.

He said registrants for future induction calls will be selected in this order:

1. Nineteen-year-old delinquents (from previous calls) in the order of their birth dates, oldest selected first.

2. Volunters under 26 in the order they have volunteered.

3. Non-volunteers who are 19 and under 26, who are not fathers, in the order of their birth dates, oldest selected first.

4. Non-volunteers who are 19 or over and under 26, who are fathers, selected in the same order as class 3.

5. Non - volunteers who have reached 18 years, six months, but are under 19, in the order of their birth dates, oldest first.

Group 4 includes registrants who have no children but whose wives are pregnant. A statement of a licensed physician attesting to the pregnancy should be sent to the local board before the order for induction is mailed out, Col. Hays said.

Boosters Drop Talk on Park

More Information On Needs Wanted

Further discussion on possible enlargements and improvements at Gardener Park were postponed indefinitely at a meeting of the Washington C. H. High School Booster Club executive committee.

The members of the committee decided to wait until more information is collected before continuing the discussion, started at a meeting last week.

With improvement of the football field high on the list of Booster Club projects for the near future, the discussion will probably be reopened at the April committee meeting.

The committee members definitely approved taking over responsibility for the sale of programs at football games. The club will "farm out" the task of selling them to some WHS group.

Taking over the sale of programs involves making a few changes in what goes into them and the amount of profit resulting. The high school was losing money on program sales.

Card carrying Boosters Club members will receive letters soon, asking for a contribution of $1 or so.

Middletown Jail To Give Up Its Hobo Flop Room

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The turning of the wheels of progress is going to make it tough on hoboes who have been accustomed to receiving a night's free lodging at the Middletown Jail.

The city building, including the jail, is being remodeled so that traditional transient hostelry, called the "flop room" will have to be taken over temporarily to accommodate some of the jail's prisoners.

That's going to leave the transients without a free place to stay.

It has been the custom here to allow hoboes and other insolvent transients to sleep in the "flop room" without a charge of any kind—either the kind that takes them into court or the kind that means an outlay of cash for room rent.

Excess of births over deaths brought a U. S. population increase of 2,570,000 in 1955 with immigrants accounting for another 250,000 increase in the same time.

CRAIG'S

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been married, and recently divorced. Shortly after my wife and I separated I met a young woman at a church event. She didn't impress me much at first, but as our acquaintance ripened, I fell in love with her. I feel I should like to marry her.

At the time I met Edith, I was trying to patch things up with my wife, who was being stubborn and ill advised. Wanting to be fair with Edith, I told her the facts and said I would keep her posted. If the marriage was finished, I wanted to see her again. I had been lonely, despondent and on the verge of a breakdown before we met; but her society renewed my faith in life and I let things take their course. My wife divorced me.

At first Edith kept me at a distance, but since my divorce her friendship has grown. She has changed so much, and has been so warm and decent and kind, that I am very much in love with her. We ride together, go to church and parties together and visit her friends or mine; and our friends seem to be taking for granted that an engagement is pending or forthcoming.

Fears Refusal

I have spoken of marriage to Edith, but haven't directly proposed. How long should I wait, do you think, before I tackle the subject seriously? I feel that Edith has developed more than just friendship for me; and yet I am afraid if I ask her now, she might refuse, and I will become disgusted and break off.

We are both fully mature and should know our respective minds; and Edith is a very fine person who can make decisions. But you understand that once a person's confidence has been shaken, he needs guidance as to the next step. I don't want to make a social or ethical blunder. I should like to propose; but not too soon.

DEAR L. B.: You say if you were to be turned down by Edith now, you might get disgusted and break off. And, this, despite the fact that you feel very much in love with her. So you are being anxiously careful about your next step, hoping to avoid any possible blunder.

All of which suggests that you need a good deal of help, to give you a chance at being happily married—whether to Edith or another woman.

Your essential problem, as I sense it, has to do with being a pretty rigid and defensive fellow, behind your well meaning air, in the field of human relations.

Real love is openhearted, devoted and tender; it is humble, without counting the cost. It is outgoing and cooperative in spirit. It is disposed to understand and sympathize and aid. It is other-centered, and not selfishly watchful or wary, as if fending with a potential adversary. It anticipates good, works for the best, and "endureth all things" (as Scripture says), for the beloved's sake.

Had this been your attitude, your pattern of feeling and reacting in marriage, it isn't likely that your wife would have obtained a divorce.

If you hope to marry Edith, speak out—as soon as you are legally eligible. And don't be afraid to discuss all pros and cons of your feelings with her. Development of such reciprocity is essential to making a worthwhile marriage. As an aid to inner clarification, read "The Mind Alive" (Norton), by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet.

Savings Bonds Down in County

Sharp Drop Recorded Here For January

Kuper Hood, Jr., area sales manager for Southern Ohio, U. S. Savings Bonds Division, today announced that Ohio sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in January amount to must under $29 million.

These sales are 16 percent below January of 1955 which was the highest first month since 1945.

January sales for Fayette County were $25,050 for a decrease of $68,256 over the same month a year ago.

Hood pointed out that while sales of E and H Bonds in 1955 reached the highest peak since the end of World War II, Ohio had received an eight million dollar increase in sales quota for 1956. This is in proportion to the national increase in sales goals.

Counties leading the state in percentage of quota achievement were Holmes, Mercer and Champaigne with Mahoning, Summit, Lucas and Franklin counties taking over the van among the industrial counties.

4-H Club Activities

WAYNE PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

The pest hunt will run through March, with first and second prizes for the winners and a party for the winners put on by the losers.

Points will be given for pests eliminated. For example, five points will be given for each mouse, 10 for each rat, 100 for a weasel, 200 for a fox and 10 for a starling.

The group plans to present the club gavel to the Junior Fair Board.

The fish fry will be held March 30 at the Wayne Hall to raise funds for the club. The public will be invited.

Ronnie Geesling started the meeting with the 4-H pledge. Nancy McFadden gave the secretary's report and, in the absence of Margaret Johnson, the treasurer's report was given by Billy Herman.

The members, about 30 boys and girls, plan to get a banner with the name of the club for the township hall.

The group, which is working on livestock projects of all kinds, has scheduled its next meeting for March 15.

Commission Power Cited In Ruling

COLUMBUS (AP) — Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that a county welfare director could abolish civil service jobs in his department only with consent of county commissioners.

The opinion to the State Civil Service Commission said a 1947 law gave commissioners complete control of welfare departments.

The opinion explained that the power of commissioners to create positions in a welfare department implied the authority to control the abolition of jobs.

Employment Office Sets Record Here for Job Placements in Year

The Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office here shattered records with the number of placements made in 1955, according to Ward Miller, head of the office in Washington C. H.

There were 1,359 job placements made last year, Miller said, the highest figure since 1945. This tops the previous high during World War II.

There are usually about 950 placements made during a year, he stated, with perhaps 1,000 if business is up. The 1,359 placements is a new high.

Breaking that down, 361 jobs for Fayette County residents were found in the manufacturing field. The bulk of the placements were in non-manufacturing industries. There were 478 jobs filled in agriculture, the highest single type of job placement made.

Wholesale and retail business called for 248 jobs, with 47 placements in mining, finance and utilities and 49 in construction.

The figures do not necessarily represent particular individuals, since one person may receive several temporary jobs during the course of one year, especially if the jobs are seasonal.

* * *

COMMENTING ON the job of the Unemployment Service office here, Miller stated that as the figures show, the office does more than pay claims to people who are out of work. It also helps them find jobs.

In the past, and in some other areas, the state unemployment office was considered a last-ditch arrangement, the place to go when nothing else worked.

But since World War II, when employment was controlled for defense purposes and workers channelled through state offices, the unemployment service office has become the first stop for both employers and workers here.

Fayette County has a different situation than most highly industrialized, high - population areas where the union hiring is the place employers look for labor. There are no commercial employment offices here, no hiring halls, no union locals—the three mainstays of big - city workers.

So when a Fayette County person needs a job—from part - time book - keeping to a permanent farmhand spot—he turns to the Unemployment Service office for help.

"In the last 10 years," Miller stated, "this had come to be the first place for anyone looking for a job. If we don't have it, we can find out where is is."

The type of occupation plays an important role in the way people go about looking for a job.

The number of placements here in non-manufacturing jobs—998 out of 1,359—and the number of placements in agriculture—478—indicate that Fayette County residents can not depend upon the big-city job-hunting methods. They do not apply here.

Throughout Ohio, Miller said, the Unemployment Compensation offices are becoming more effective and respected as good places to find work or workers.

Cleveland, for example, has a total of five offices, one of them exclusively for professional people.

* * *

THE BUREAU offices throughout Ohio are plagued now with widespread shortages of men and women in key occupations. Fayette County has a skilled-help problem of its own, Miller said, but it is nothing unusual for the county.

Machinists and tool and die makers and setters can be located from the office here, either in this county or elsewhere nearby.

Miller said that at this time of year jobs are a bit scarce. There are a lot of workers who live here and work elsewhere, he said, who are receiving unemployment aid through the office here.

But the claim load is not as high this year as it was last. There are over 100 fewer applicants for unemployment compensation this winter and no employers are laying off workers.

It is mainly the construction workers who are hit in the winter months, Miller said. From November through about the first half of March workers whose jobs call for temprate weather are left literally out in the cold.

The word "construction" involves more than just building trades workers, he explained. It also means road and bridge construction and other work that calls for unfrozen ground and relatively dry weather.

He said that July, August and September are the busiest months in Fayette County. That is the time of the year when construction and agriculture hit their peak in manpower demand.

Trial Jurors Are on Duty 6 Hours a Day Here Now

Only Restrictions Are On What They May See and Hear

The jurors in the trial of George Baldridge—the seven men and five women of Fayette County who must decide his fate after attorneys for the defense and State complete their cases—are working a six-hour day.

While evidence is being presented by both sides, the jurors are "on duty" from 9 A. M., when court convenes, until 4 P. M., when it adjourns for the day. The 12 jurors—plus an alternate—take an hour off for lunch. Court Bailiff David Whiteside explained.

While the evidence is being heard the jurors are almost completely on their own when court is not in session. They can come and go as they please, do what they want to do, speak to just about anyone.

The court puts these restrictions on them: They are forbidden to discuss the case with anyone—not even a wife or husband. They must not read anything that deals with the trial or listen to a broadcast of any kind if the trial is mentioned.

Once the evidence has been given and the jury starts coming to a verdict, the jurors become tighter than a family.

When deliberation starts they will stay together—even eat as a group—until the verdict is reached.

Bailiff Whiteside, who explained the restrictions placed on the jurors, serves as escort and personal aide.

The 13th juror—alternate Orville Clark—has the same restrictions as the jury. But once the 12 regulars start deliberations, his job is done.

Cincinnati Slayer Being Assigned To Lima State Hospital

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Darrell F. Smith, 23, of Cincinnati, one of two men charged with murder in the slaying of Mrs. Mary Ellen Barger, 20, Wednesday was ordered committed to the Lima State Hospital for the insane.

Common Pleas Judge P. P. Boli ordered Smith sent back to the hospital "until he is restored to reason, at which time the court will proceed with the case."

They held, however, that his companion in the alleged slaying, Lloyd Luther White Jr., 22, of Denver, Colo., is sane. White will be given a hearing in court here Monday.

Mrs. Barger, a young mother, was shot to death Nov. 28 on a Hamilton street as one of two men tried to grab her. Smith and White were arrested later in Orlando, Fla. Police said White admitted the shooting but claimed it was accidental.

Columbus Lawyer Disbarred Year

COLUMBUS (AP) — Emanuel H Leiberman, 59-year-old Columbus attorney, was found guilty of two counts of "misconduct" in common pleas court yesterday and ordered disbarred for one year

The Ohio Supreme Court returned the case to the lower court after taking exception to several rules of law.

Lawyers Accused Of 'Milking' Funds

CLEVELAND (AP)—A state examiner says lawyers are "milking" estates in probate court by drawing off "payments" to alleged heirs behind the Iron Curtain.

Examiner James N. Main said the practice comes up in estates where there are no known heirs to contest disbursements.

His investigators found that in the estate of a machinist who died in 1948, an entry was made showing $3,833 sent to Russia for a "wife" of the deceased.

Electronic Traffic Lights Discussed At Meeting Here

Further information regarding the installation of electronically controlled traffic lights in Washington C. H., was obtained when two top officials of The General Electric Co., of Columbus and an engineer from Cincinnati held a conference with City Manager James F. Parkinson and three members of Council.

The General Electric officials were William F. Kail and F. A. Parente, and the engineer was W. C. Cowell of the Crouse-Hinds Co., of Cincinnati.

The three councilmen were President Ronald Cornwell, C. L. Musser, chairman of the Safety service committee, and Ben Norris, member of the same committee.

Many questions asked by the councilmen were answered by the visitors. They went into the subject thoroughly and gave much valuable and interesting information.

It was brought out that Columbus is considering installation of electronically controlled traffic lights, as funds are available.

No decision has been reached on the installation here by the city officials, who said they will make further investigation to make certain that the system is a good one, before final action is taken.

He Has Touchy Assignment: Tell 11 Girls About Women

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The least envied man among film directors is David Miller, who has the touchy task of guiding 11 actresses in a movie about women.

Miller, 25-year veteran of film making despite his youngish looks, is directing "The Opposite Sex." It's a modern, musicalized version of "The Women," written by the Ambassador to Italy, Clare Booth Luce. Now well into the shooting, Miller says his dolls are happy as clams.

Such was not the case in the first filming of the play (1939). It starred such high-powered people as Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Rosalind Russell, Joan Fontaine, etc. Reports are that the queens would vie to see who could arrive on the set last.

The new version has such figures are June Allyson, Ann Sheridan, Joan Collins, Dolores Gray, Ann Miller, Joan Blondell, Vivienne Segal, Barbara Jo Allen (Vera Vague) and Alice Pearce.

"We haven't had any problems," remarked Director Miller, not even pausing to knock on wood. "All the girls have been as nice as they can be.

"Of course, I took pains to see that there would be no cause for irritation. In the matter of wardrobe, the finest of fabrics and designs were chosen for each of them. Each was asked if she was satisfied with her clothes, and efforts were made to follow whatever suggestions they had."

This was confirmed by designer Helen Rose, who was passing by. "I had no real problems," she said.

"Before production started," Miller added, "I had them come to my office individually and rehearse their parts. I wanted them to understand and be satisfied with their characterizations. In a picture with so many characters, you're apt to lose sight of some of them if they're not firmly in mind beforehand."

Actresses sometimes blow up if they find another star has a bigger dressing room. Miller said he solved that by ordering 11 dressing rooms all the same size.

What about the danger of the girls' trying to outwait each other in reporting to the set?

"We have a system that solves that," the director explained. "When the cameraman figures it will be five minutes until he is ready to shoot, we notify the actresses I've told them that the sooner they report, the more time we'll have to rehearse, thus helping th picture. They have all cooperated."

Test Results Given Parents

New Holland School Heads Get Replies

New Holland was the scene of a diphtheria scare in December, after the death of a 10-year old school pupil, Lawrence Neil Funk.

Throat swab checks of the students and school personnel were made then by the state Department of Health and the Pickaway County Health Department. The checks for the presence of diphtheria calmed the fears of worried parents when the officials reported "not a single" case of active diphtheria.

Pickaway County and Ohio Health Department officials, worried by the outbreak in spite of immunization shots given as routine treatment, decided to check out the students for immunity.

They did, testing approximately 225 youngsters in the first eight grades for their ability to fight the disease.

• • •

ACCORDING to Kenneth Craig, New Holland school superintendent, 28 children reacted "completely positive" to the immunization test and 11 reacted "weakly positive."

Which means that 39 out of about 225 students need further treatment to prevent the disease. Their bodies have not built the necessary defenses.

Craig explained that, although immunization inoculations are given regularly by the county Health Department, it is not always possible to tell who has and who has not had shots, since the student body is continually changing.

Parents of the 39 who are susceptible to the disease in one way or another have been sent letters informing tham that the youngsters need treatment.

The Pickaway County Health Department does not plan to do the inoculation unless the family cannot afford to go to a family physician. Officials feel that the family doctor would know more about the individual and family medical history and be able to devote more time to a physical check of the child.

It was pointed out that a positive reaction to the immunization check might indicate more than just susceptibility to diphtheria.

At any rate, there may be medical factors involved which the county health department does not know about.

New Holland parents who have not received word on the check were informed that all is well with their child.

Since letters were sent only to those parents whose children had a reaction, failure to receive a letter serves as an "all clear" signal.

Truckers Taking To Free Highways

COLUMBUS (AP) — The commercial hauler seems to have driven automobiles off free roads and onto the Northern Ohio Turnpike, the chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission has told Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

This has resulted in making county, state and U. S. highways "free, private right of way" for commercial truckers, says the chairman, James Shocknessy.

Shocknessy gave his views in a letter to the governor that recounted the steps the commission has taken to attract truckers to the turnpike. Some truckers claim tolls charged are too high to make using the turnpike economical.

Fathers, Men Over 26 Told Their Draft Calls Postponed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If you are a father or are about to become one, your induction into military service will continue to be delayed. The same holds true for men over 26 and "specialists" like scientists and engineers.

This was announced Wednesday by Col. Harold L. Hays, director of Selective Service for Ohio.

Delays or postponements of induction in these categories were temporary the past several months while procedures were clarified, Hays said.

While the great bulk of the registrants in these categories will be retained in Class 1-A, 1-A-O or 1-O, "their selection for further processing will be delayed," he added.

He said registrants for future induction calls will be selected in this order:

1. Nineteen-year-old delinquents (from previous calls) in the order of their birth dates, oldest selected first.
2. Volunters under 26 in the order they have volunteered.
3. Non-volunteers who are 19 and under 26, who are not fathers, in the order of their birth dates, oldest selected first.
4. Non-volunteers who are 19 or over and under 26, who are fathers, selected in the same order as class 3.
5. Non - volunteers who have reached 18 years, six months, but are under 19, in the order of their birth dates, oldest first.

Group 4 includes registrants who have no children but whose wives are pregnant. A statement of a licensed physician attesting to the pregnancy should be sent to the local board before the order for induction is mailed out, Col. Hays said.

Boosters Drop Talk on Park

More Information On Needs Wanted

Further discussion on possible enlargements and improvements at Gardener Park were postponed indefinitely at a meeting of the Washington C. H. High School Booster Club executive committee.

The members of the committee decided to wait until more information is collected before continuing the discussion, started at a meeting last week.

With improvement of the football field high on the list of Booster Club projects for the near future, the discussion will probably be reopened at the April committee meeting.

The committee members definitely approved taking over responsibility for the sale of programs at football games. The club will "farm out" the task of selling them to some WHS group.

Taking over the sale of programs involves making a few changes in what goes into them and the amount of profit resulting. The high school was losing money on program sales.

Card carrying Boosters Club members will receive letters soon, asking for a contribution of $1 or so.

Middletown Jail To Give Up Its Hobo Flop Room

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The turning of the wheels of progress is going to make it tough on hoboes who have been accustomed to receiving a night's free lodging at the Middletown Jail.

The city building, including the jail, is being remodeled so that traditional transient hostelry, called the "flop room" will have to be taken over temporarily to accommodate some of the jail's prisoners.

That's going to leave the transients without a free place to stay.

It has been the custom here to allow hoboes and other insolvent transients to sleep in the "flop room" without a charge of any kind—either the kind that takes them into court or the kind that means an outlay of cash for room rent.

Excess of births over deaths brought a U. S. population increase of 2,570,000 in 1955 with immigrants accounting for another 250,000 increase in the same time.

GOP Jockeying For Veep's Post Seen As Possible Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may have touched off Republican jockeying over the party's vice presidential nomination.

But it was six months in advance of the Republican Convention, and Eisenhower's reply was keyed to that: Let's wait, he said, and see who the convention nominates.

However, Eisenhower can—and in all probability will — settle the question of a running mate by convention time.

For the President, who is assured of renomination by acclamation if his health permits, told a news conference May 31 that unless the vice presidential nominee were acceptable to the head of the ticket "the presidential nominee should immediately step aside."

Nixon himself limited immediate comment to Eisenhower's decision to run again. He predicted Eisenhower's re-election and added:

"Only a man completely consecrated to the service of his country could have reached the decision President Eisenhower revealed today."

Eisenhower told reporters Nixon had been a loyal and dedicated associate, and successful in the broad field of work assigned to him as vice president. The President said he was very fond of Nixon.

But although he said he had tremendous admiration for Nixon, Eisenhower added that he wouldn't want to say at this point who should be the vice presidential nominee.

Eisenhower said Nixon was one of a half dozen persons he consulted Tuesday in making up his own mind definitely to become available for the nomination.

A reporter asked the President what he thought about Nixon's recent statement that the Supreme Court was headed by "a great Republican Chief Justice, Earl Warren."

With a tightened jaw line, the President said he was not going to comment on Nixon's comment.

The President's refusal to give Nixon a political nod at this point is certain to spur efforts by some factions of the Republican party to replace the vice president.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

The girls and boys of Mrs. Meriweather's third grade at the Methodist Church are seeing the world on a rocket ship, "Let's Pretend."

The first excursions were in and around Washington Court House. The children were already familiar with many of the industrial plants of their city. One of the most fascinating of the activities was locating their homes on the city map.

The second phase of the journey included historical and scenic places in Ohio with pictures brought by the children to share with the others in the class.

By means of view master slides, a tour of the United States was made with stops at various points of interest from the "stern and rock-bound" coast and historic Plymouth in New England to the giant redwoods in California. The children again contributed pictures of the places they had actually visited.

An unexpected side trip was enjoyed by both third grades when Mrs. Trace showed her beautiful pictures taken in Samoa.

This week the children will fly across the Rio Grande and will spend enough time in Mexico to become acquainted with the people and see the interesting places there.

On the way to Brazil, they will stop in Cuba. Thence across the South Atlantic to Africa before heading north to visit several European countries — Holland, Switzerland, Italy and others before returning home in time for graduation in the spring.

It is hoped that this tour will stimulate reading about children of other lands and that every child will know where he lives — his city, county, state and country, and also know where to find his neighbor.

Alabama Governor Rapped By Group

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A white supremacy organization has loudly approved the indictment of Negro leaders of a bus boycott here, but claims that Gov. James E. Folsom "has not proven competent during these grave and grievous times."

The criticism against Folsom was included in a resolution which put the Central Alabama Citizens Council on record as opposed to a biracial commission which might try to solve racial disputes outside the framework of Alabama's segregation laws.

Trial Jurors Are on Duty 6 Hours a Day Here Now

Only Restrictions Are On What They May See and Hear

The jurors in the trial of George Baldridge—the seven men and five women of Fayette County who must decide his fate after attorneys for the defense and State complete their cases—are working a six-hour day.

While evidence is being presented by both sides, the jurors are "on duty" from 9 A. M., when court convenes, until 4 P. M., when it adjourns for the day. The 12 jurors—plus an alternate—take an hour off for lunch. Court Bailiff David Whiteside explained.

While the evidence is being heard the jurors are almost completely on their own when court is not in session. They can come and go as they please, do what they want to do, speak to just about anyone.

The court puts these restrictions on them: They are forbidden to discuss the case with anyone—not even a wife or husband. They must not read anything that deals with the trial or listen to a broadcast of any kind if the trial is mentioned.

Once the evidence has been given and the jury starts coming to a verdict, the jurors become tighter than a family.

When deliberation starts they will stay together—even eat as a group—until the verdict is reached.

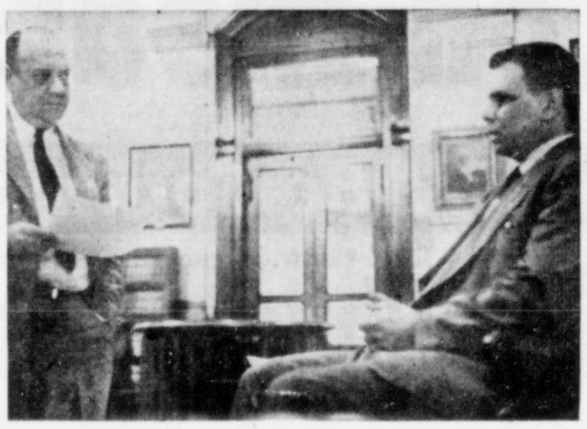

Bailiff Whiteside, who explained the restrictions placed on the jurors, serves as escort and personal aide.

The 13th juror—alternate Orville Clark—has the same restrictions as the jury. But once the 12 regulars start deliberations, his job is done.

If one of the jurors should be unable to complete duty, Clark will fill in.

Cincinnati Slayer Being Assigned To Lima State Hospital

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Darrell F. Smith, 23, of Cincinnati, one of two men charged with murder in the slaying of Mrs. Mary Ellen Barger, 20, Wednesday was ordered committed to the Lima State Hospital for the insane.

Common Pleas Judge P. P. Boli ordered Smith sent back to the hospital "until he is restored to reason, at which time the court will proceed with the case."

They held, however, that his companion in the alleged slaying, Lloyd Luther White Jr., 22, of Denver, Colo., is sane. White will be given a hearing in court here Monday.

Mrs. Barger, a young mother, was shot to death Nov. 28 on a Hamilton street as one of two men tried to grab her. Smith and White were arrested later in Orlando, Fla. Police said White admitted the shooting but claimed it was accidental.

Columbus Lawyer Disbarred Year

COLUMBUS (AP) — Emanuel H Leiberman, 59-year-old Columbus attorney, was found guilty of two counts of "misconduct" in common pleas court yesterday and ordered disbarred for one year

The Ohio Supreme Court returned the case to the lower court after taking exception to several rules of law.

Lawyers Accused Of 'Milking' Funds

CLEVELAND (AP)—A state examiner says lawyers are "milking" estates in probate court by drawing off "payments" to alleged heirs behind the Iron Curtain.

Examiner James N. Main said the practice comes up in estates where there are no known heirs to contest disbursements.

His investigators found that in the estate of a machinist who died in 1948, an entry was made showing $3,833 sent to Russia for a "wife" of the deceased.

Electronic Traffic Lights Discussed At Meeting Here

Further information regarding the installation of electronically controlled traffic lights in Washington C. H., was obtained when two top officials of The General Electric Co., of Columbus and an engineer from Cincinnati held a conference with City Manager James F. Parkinson and three members of Council.

The General Electric officials were William F. Kail and F. A. Parente, and the engineer was W. C. Cowell of the Crouse-Hinds Co., of Cincinnati.

The three councilmen were President Ronald Cornwell, C. L. Musser, chairman of the Safety service committee, and Ben Norris, member of the same committee.

Many questions asked by the councilmen were answered by the visitors. They went into the subject thoroughly and gave much valuable and interesting information.

It was brought out that Columbus is considering installation of electronically controlled traffic lights, as funds are available.

No decision has been reached on the installation here by the city officials, who said they will make further investigation to make certain that the system is a good one, before final action is taken.

Boy Born On Mom's Seventh Birthday

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Mt. Vernon's first Leap Year baby boy was born yesterday on his mother's seventh birthday.

Mrs. Charles E. Miller was a Leap Year Day baby herself. That was 28 years ago but she's celebrated only seven birthdays since.

Rockefeller Raps Segregated Schools

CANTON (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, grandson of the capitalist-philanthropist, said last night he was against granting federal aid to segregated school systems.

Rockefeller, now a resident of Arkansas, addressed the annual meeting of the Urban League, interracial group which attempts to ease the adjustment of the southern Negro into the industrial life of the north.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

GOP Jockeying For Veep's Post Seen As Possible Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may have touched off Republican jockeying over the party's vice presidential nomination.

But it was six months in advance of the Republican Convention, and Eisenhower's reply was keyed to that: Let's wait, he said, and see who the convention nominates.

However, Eisenhower can—and in all probability will — settle the question of a running mate by convention time.

For the President, who is assured of renomination by acclamation if his health permits, told a news conference May 31 that unless the vice presidential nominee were acceptable to the head of the ticket "the presidential nominee should immediately step aside."

Nixon himself limited immediate comment to Eisenhower's decision to run again. He predicted Eisenhower's re-election and added:

"Only a man completely consecrated to the service of his country could have reached the decision President Eisenhower revealed today."

Eisenhower told reporters Nixon had been a loyal and dedicated associate, and successful in the broad field of work assigned to him as vice president. The President said he was very fond of Nixon.

But although he said he had tremendous admiration for Nixon, Eisenhower added that he wouldn't want to say at this point who should be the vice presidential nominee.

Eisenhower said Nixon was one of a half dozen persons he consulted Tuesday in making up his own mind definitely to become available for the nomination.

A reporter asked the President what he thought about Nixon's recent statement that the Supreme Court was headed by "a great Republican Chief Justice, Earl Warren."

With a tightened jaw line, the President said he was not going to comment on Nixon's comment.

The President's refusal to give Nixon a political nod at this point is certain to spur efforts by some factions of the Republican party to replace the vice president.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

The girls and boys of Mrs. Meriweather's third grade at the Methodist Church are seeing the world on a rocket ship, "Let's Pretend."

The first excursions were in and around Washington Court House. The children were already familiar with many of the industrial plants of their city. One of the most fascinating of the activities was locating their homes on the city map.

The second phase of the journey included historical and scenic places in Ohio with pictures brought by the children to share with the others in the class.

By means of view master slides, a tour of the United States was made with stops at various points of interest from the "stern and rock-bound" coast and historic Plymouth in New England to the giant redwoods in California. The children again contributed pictures of the places they had actually visited.

An unexpected side trip was enjoyed by both third grades when Mrs. Trace showed her beautiful pictures taken in Samoa.

This week the children will fly across the Rio Grande and will spend enough time in Mexico to become acquainted with the people and see the interesting places there.

On the way to Brazil, they will stop in Cuba. Thence across the South Atlantic to Africa before heading north to visit several European countries — Holland, Switzerland, Italy and others before returning home in time for graduation in the spring.

It is hoped that this tour will stimulate reading about children of other lands and that every child will know where he lives — his city, county, state and country, and also know where to find his neighbor.

Alabama Governor Rapped By Group

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A white supremacy organization has loudly approved the indictment of Negro leaders of a bus boycott here, but claims that Gov. James E. Folsom "has not proven competent during these grave and grievous times."

The criticism against Folsom was included in a resolution which put the Central Alabama Citizens Council on record as opposed to a biracial commission which might try to solve racial disputes outside the framework of Alabama's segregation laws.

Al Smith Said Only Indian Sure Of 1956 Starting Post

(By The Associated Press)

Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians apparently has decided to give his team the "shake well" treatment in an effort to head off the New York Yankees in the American League pennant chase.

He met with his club today in its Tucson, Ariz., camp and announced that Al Smith was the only player on hand who was certain of the job.

"And he doesn't have a set position," added Lopez. Smith, named the Player of the Year by the Cleveland baseball writers last season, played six positions in 1955.

"The young fellows have just as much chance as anyone else of winning a place on the team," said Lopez. "One hustling young player sometimes can give the whole club a lift."

Meanwhile, the Yanks were having their troubles with holdouts. On their first day of spring training, they were faced with the problem of bringing half a dozen top pitchers into line. This is an unprecedented situation and it has the Bomber brass worried

Ace Whitey Ford and the club still are $5,000 apart. He wants $30,000 and has been offered $25,000. Other holdouts are Tom Morgan, Bob Grim, Jim Konstanty, Don Larsen and Mickey McDermott.

Billy Martin and Irv Noren still are unsigned, but they are not due to report until Tuesday, so they won't be classified holdouts until then.

In the National League, new Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants looked over his club on the first day of training and announced:

1. He would pattern his methods after those employed by Leo Durocher, his predecessor.

2. The Giants have as good a chance as anyone of winning the pennant, but . . .

3. The Brooklyn Dodgers "rate" the favorite's role.

Elsewhere around the camps:

Boston Red Sox pitcher Mel Parnell, troubled with ailments the past two seasons, said he feels great "and there's no reason why I shouldn't get 15 victories this year.'. . . Milwaukee already has sold 13,600 tickets for its opener against Chicago April 17 . . . Chicago Cubs already being plagued by a rash of minor injuries . . . Brooklyn World Series hero Johnny Podres said he has no idea when he'll be inducted into the service.

Sohio To Expand

CLEVELAND (AP)—Standard Oil Co. of Ohio will spend about $43 million for improvements this year, compared with $47,522,000 last year.

New York City had 68,500 marriages in 1955, 2 percent less than in 1954.

Miami Coach's Farewell Letter Is Received by Alumni Here

Ara Parseghian, who resigned as football coach at Miami University to take over the same position at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., has poured out his feelings about the change in a letter to former Miami athletes.

Just how many of the Miami alumni, who won their big block M for sports achievements in sports, here received his letter is not known. But among these men are Hugh B. Sollars, an outstanding track performer, of near Good Hope, V. F. (Chief) Crawford of near Jeffersonville who is one of the all time football greats of Miami, and Robert Lanum, Leesburg Avenue, a member of the track team.

Parseghian has a good many friends in and near Washington C. H. Mrs. Parseghian is a former Greenfield girl and he has been here more than once to play golf at the Country Club.

SOLLARS loaned Parseghian's letter to the Record-Herald. It follows in full:

"In the five years that I have been writing sportsletters this last one will be the most difficult. The greatest debt I owe is to Miami University. It has given me many things, starting with my undergraduate days and up through my coaching tenure. This is a farewell letter, as a coach of Miami football teams, but not as a loyal Miami alumnus. My heart will always be with the Redskins regardless of where I am. Leaving Miami was a very difficult decision for me to make. I weighed many things before I accepted the new assignment. It's not my intention to defend my decision because I'm sure all of you understand. I honestly believe that there is no one who will hate to leave Oxford any more than the Parseghian family. If I was the type of person that would not accept this new challenge then I wouldn't be worthy of the Miami job.

"It would be impossible for me to list all of the people I want to thank. There isn't enough stationery or time, but I hope this letter will help me tell you how much I appreciate everyone's help.

"Miami's selection of John Pont as head football coach is a very wise one. He is a very capable and deserving young man. You will all remember the difficulties I had my first year so don't expect miracles from John in '56 and '57. Give him an opportunity to organize his new staff and iron out the other many problems, and I'm sure he will raise Miami's football to even greater heights.

"Incidentally those of you who have been concerned when past coaching changes have been made needn't worry—there will be no players leaving Miami for other schools. All the recruiting data gathered thus far will be turned over to John and no films, projectors or anything else of that nature will leave the campus.

"When you are in the Chicago area, I will be greatly disappointed if you don't call or drop by for a visit. Remember, I'm coaching the Wildcats but I'm still a Redskin."

Lady Says House Broken Out Of

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP)—Police were confused when Mrs. Melvin Torstrick reported an intruder had broken out of her house, but she meant it. While upstairs, she heard a noise from the first floor. She called but got no answer. She checked, found no one, locked the front and back doors and returned upstairs. Then came a crash. The intruder had fled but the front door had been broken open.

Jeff Drops Opener In Tourney, 83-38

The Beaver boys wiped Jeff off the tourney slate by an 83-38 score. With their height advantage and dead-eye shooting accuracy, they scored almost every time they got the ball.

Jeff, on the other hand, just couldn't penetrate their tight zone defense. And when they shot from outside, they shot only once. Beaver controlled the backboards.

More than half the Beaver points were racked up by dazzling 6-foot-5 Compton. He scored on 16 field goals and 11 free throws for a 43-point total. The other 10 boys in the Beaver lineup scored 40 points.

Commenting on the phenomenal Compton, one Beaver fan said at half time (when the rangy cager had already scored 26 points- that he was having an off night. "He's missed three shots!" the rooter complained.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Steubenville Barons, winners of their last 21 games, and tough Central State of Wilberforce, will battle tonight for the Ohio title in the National Assn's Interscholastic athletics district basketball playoffs.

Steubenville whipped Defiance 92-75 and the Central State Marauders blasted host Baldwin-Wallace 100-81 in first round action last night. The champion will advance to the national meet in Kansas City.

Bobbin' Robin Freeman Again All-America

Frisco's Bill Russell Tops Voting With OSU Tiny Tot Rated Second

NEW YORK (AP)—Dominated by big Bill Russell and little Robin Freeman, five seniors from San Francisco, Ohio State, Duquesne, Furman and Holy Cross were named today to the 1956 Associated Press collegiate all-American basketball team.

Selected with Russell and Freeman by a vote of 329 sportswriters and broadcasters were Sihugo (Si) Green of Duquesne, Darrell Floyd of Furman and Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross. Russell, Freeman and Floyd are repeaters from the 1955 all-America while Green moves up from the 1955 second team and Heinsohn from the 1955 third team.

The 6:10 Russell, who led the Don's enroute to their string of 48 straight victories, received 308 first team votes and seven 2nd team marks for a total of 1,554 points. Freeman, only 5:11 but one of the nation's best shooters, polled 233 first and 46 seconds for 1,257 points.

Green was third in the voting with 861 points on 153 firsts and 48 seconds followed by Floyd with 813 on 124-94 and Heinsohn with 624 on 98-82.

Ronnie Shavlik, North Carolina State star who fractured his wrist last Saturday; K. C. Jones, Russel's teammate at San Francisco; Rod (Hot Rod) Hundley of West Virginia; Len Rosenbluth of North Carolina and 7 ft. Bill Uhl of Dayton were picked as a second team.

George Washington's Joe Holup; Julius McCoy of Michigan State; Bill Ridley of Illinois; Bob Burrow of Kentucky and Willie Naulls of UCLA make up a third team.

Charley Tyra of Louisville; Paul Judson of Illinois; Hal Lear of Temple; Morris Taft of UCLA and Vic Molodet of North Carolina State head an honorable mention list of 21. The 15 on the first three teams will receive certificates from The Associated Press.

The feats of Russell, known as the stuffer, are so well-known they hardly need any repeating. Virtually unknown a year ago he leaped into the limelight with his uncanny ability on the court to lead the Dons to the NCAA championship and their victory string of 48 straight. This year he has done even better.

The repeat selections of Freeman and Floyd, who have battled for the major college individual scoring lead all season, vindicates those who voted for them in 1955. They were regarded in some quarters as only "shooters." This year, as marked men, they did well under pressure.

Pro Cagers Vie For Playoff Spots

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle for the second and third playoff spots in the western division of the National Basketball Assn. apparently is going right down to the wire with St. Louis and Minneapolis holding an edge over Rochester as of today.

Minneapolis' Lakers moved into a tie for second place with the idle Hawks of St. Louis last night, by defeating Syracuse 98-94 while Rochester lost a chance to close in when the Royals dropped an 86-81 decision to Philadelphia. The Royals, with six games left, trail St. Louis and Minneapolis by only 1½ games but are behind four on the all important losing side.

Lopez Confident Of His 'Old Men'

Holman Winner In Rowan Bout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Big John Holman, a slow man in the ring but a fast climber recently in the heavyweight boxing ranks, overpowered Irish Joe Rowan of Philadelphia last night and looked forward to a bout with Tommy Hurricane Jackson.

"They promised to give us Jackson next," said Holman's manager Bernie Glickman, "and if we win that one we should be in line for a shot at the championship."

Ohio Woman Golfer Setting Hot Pace

Mrs. Emerson, from Dayton, Ohio, pulled the first surprise of the tournament yesterday when she ousted medalist Marge Burns of Greensboro, N. C., 2 and 1.

After 4-Year Wait Thief Convicted

CLEVELAND (AP) — A car was stolen from in front of Central Police Station more than four years ago. Charles F. Fisher, 39, was convicted of the automobile theft yesterday. His original trial in common pleas court was postponed so he could visit his mother-in-law in Denmark.

When he came back to the United States, he settled in Los Angeles. An arrest order was issued recently and Fisher returned voluntarily. Sentence was withheld pending a probation report.

Tournament Game Won By WHS Junior Cagers

Taking a tip from their big brothers, the Lion Cubs of Washington C. H. Junior High School bounded to a decisive 48-15 win over Oak Hill Wednesday evening in the first round of the Junior tournament at Chillicothe.

With Ronnie Carter leading the scoring attack, popping in 8 field goals and 9 foul shots for a total of 26 points, the Cubs drove their way to their 13th win of the season. The Lion Cubs have lost only three games since the start.

The Oak Hill squad gave the Fayette County cagers a bit of trouble for the first half, keeping the score down to 6-3 in the first quarter and 15-9 in the second quarter, but the Cubs were out in front all the way.

In the third quarter the boys from Washington C. H. slapped their offense together, started working the fast break and began bombing the Oak Hill basket. Oak Hill did manage to get in four points in the third quarter and two in the last quarter.

On Friday the WHS lads will go back to the Chillicothe Central gym for the second round of the tournament. The squad from here will be meeting a Pike County team from Twin High School. Game time is 7 P. M.

AAU Denies It Profited Off Of Santee

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union, in meeting out a lifetime ban to miler Wes Santee, did not, as has been suggested, get rid of a goose which laid it some golden eggs.

So said Dan Ferris, AAU secretary-treasurer, today in lashing back at reports that the AAU had used the great Kansas miler to fatten its coffers and then suspended him on the matter of a couple of thousand dollars' extra expense money.

"We don't receive a penny from these various invitation track meets," Ferris said. "They are promoted privately. Our only connection with them is to see that the competitors meet amateur regulations."

The AAU's functions, in a nutshell, are to make and enforce rules and sanction events under its jurisdiction.

The AAU serves as an international sanctioning agent for most sports and, as such, must approve athletes which carry U. S. colors in the Olympic games.

Redlegs Facing Same Old Problem

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, late starters in the business of baseball spring training, get underway today and it generally was agreed they face the same old problem—pitching.

Of course, if quantity has anything to do with it, Manager Birdie Tebbetts may solve the pitching problem this year. Eighteen of the 37 players on the training roster are hurlers.

Sale Of Indians Given Approval

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sale of the Cleveland Indians for $3,961,800 was approved last night by the baseball club's stockholders.

Formally ratifying action club directors took Feb. 14, the stockholders voted to sell at $1,550 a share to a new company headed by William R. Daley, 63, president of Otis & Co., an investment firm; Ignatius A. O'Shaugnessy of St. Paul, president of the Globe Oil Co. and Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager since 1950.

The deal represents a profit of around $3 million to holders who paid $100 a share for stock when Bill Veeck purchased the club 10 years ago.

Another Fan Loses Tooth

Washington C. H. High School maintenance men were a bit startled recently to discover a false tooth idly resting under the bleachers in the gym, apparently lost by some overly - excited spectator at a red-hot basketball game.

A woman stopped at the high school. Said she was from Wilmington. Wanted to see the tooth.

"Sorry," said the lady, "that's not my tooth."

Chances Slim For Freeman To Top List

NEW YORK (AP) — Robin Freeman's chances of beating Furman's Darrell Floyd out of the major college individual basketball scoring championship are slim but the Ohio State all-America could well become the third highest point maker in history.

NCAA service bureau statistics, released today and including games through Feb. 27, show Floyd in first place with an average of 33.5 points per game on 872 in 26 games. Freeman has a 32.4 average with 647 markers in 20 contests.

Floyd has finished his regular season but has the possibility of playing from one to three more games in the Southern Conference tournament starting today. Freeman winds up his career against Michigan State on Saturday and Minnesota on Monday.

Freeman's 43 - point barrage against Illinois last week sent his average soaring to a position where he needs only to keep it to pass Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia in the all-time rankings. Wilkinson compiled a 32.1 point average to rank behind Frank Selvy former Furman ace, and Floyd.

Bill Von Weyhe of Rhode Island retained his free throw lead, when he made 10 of 10 last week to boost his percentage of .872. Tom Jorgensen of Michigan is second.

When Nick Altrock of the Washington Senators appeared as a pinch hitter in a game on Oct. 1, 1933, he was 57 years old.

Dayton Flyers Now Thankful They've Seen Last Of Green

(By The Associated Press)

Green, always at his best against tough opposition, staged a sensational shooting exhibition last night to lead his underdog Iron Dukes to a thrilling 87-86 upset victory over Dayton.

It was Green's easy layup with 10 seconds remaining that turned the tide for the defending NIT champs. That put Duquesne ahead 87-84. Dayton's Don Lane dropped in a field goal as the buzzer sounded.

The third-ranked Flyers, who dropped their third game in 25 starts, were paced by 7-foot center Bill Uhl who rang up 30 points.

Dayton led 71-63 with the final period half gone, but the Dukes rallied, tying the score five times in the second half before clinching the contest.

At Oxford, Miami's Redskins held as much as a 21-point margin in the second half as they trounced the University of Cincinnati, 89-81.

Down Louisville way, two other NIT participants collided, with Louisville emerging an 83-70 winner over Xavier. The Cardinals thus avenged an earlier season 40-point trouncing by Xavier.

Louisville, leading 42-34 at the half, was paced by Phil Rollins and Jim Morgan, each of whom collected 22 points. Morgan, held to a mere two points in the opening period, broke up the game with an amazing jump shot exhibition. Frank Tartaron was high for Xavier with 20.

In loop affairs throughout Ohio, Ohio Wesleyan and Mount Union came out on top in Ohio Conference action—the Bishops rallying for a 78-77 victory over Heidelberg, and the Purple Raiders chalking up their 10th straight home court win, 81-57, over Wooster.

Ashland edged Bluffton, 62-61, in the Mid-Ohio League, Kent State ended its 10-11 season with a 93-91 Mid-American Conference victory over Bowling Green, and Case Tech surprised Akron, 77-62.

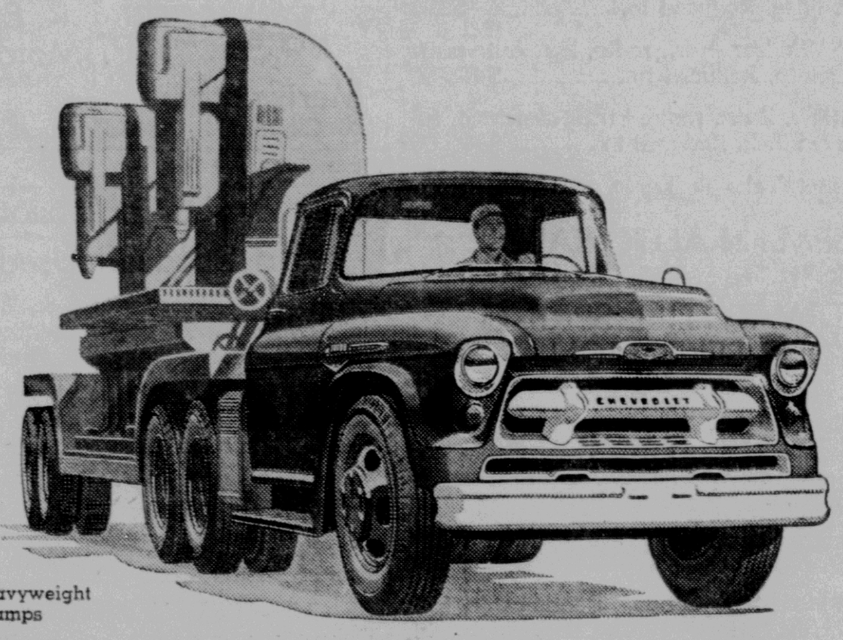

3,400 Quarters Reported Stolen

CINCINNATI (AP) — Somebody made way with 3,400 quarters yesterday, police were told. That's $850.

The quarters were in a bag and taken from a cigarette vending machine truck while the driver, Vic Aloisio, was removing coins from a machine in a tap room.

(By The Associated Press)

Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians apparently has decided to give his team the "shake well" treatment in an effort to head off the New York Yankees in the American League pennant chase.

He met with his club today in its Tucson, Ariz., camp and announced that Al Smith was the only player on hand who was certain of the job.

"And he doesn't have a set position," added Lopez. Smith, named the Player of the Year by the Cleveland baseball writers last season, played six positions in 1955.

"The young fellows have just as much chance as anyone else of winning a place on the team," said Lopez. "One hustling young player sometimes can give the whole club a lift."

Meanwhile, the Yanks were having their troubles with holdouts. On their first day of spring training, they were faced with the problem of bringing half a dozen top pitchers into line. This is an unprecedented situation and it has the Bomber brass worried

Ace Whitey Ford and the club still are $5,000 apart. He wants $30,000 and has been offered $25,900. Other holdouts are Tom Morgan, Bob Grim, Jim Konstanty, Don Larsen and Mickey McDermott.

Billy Martin and Irv Noren still are unsigned, but they are not due to report until Tuesday, so they won't be classified holdouts until then.

In the National League, new Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants looked over his club on the first day of training and announced:

1. He would pattern his methods after those employed by Leo Durocher, his predecessor.

2. The Giants have as good a chance as anyone of winning the pennant, but . . .

3. The Brooklyn Dodgers "rate" the favorite's role.

Elsewhere around the camps:

Boston Red Sox pitcher Mel Parnell, troubled with ailments the past two seasons, said he feels great "and there's no reason why I shouldn't get 15 victories this year.' . . . Milwaukee already has sold 13,600 tickets for its opener against Chicago April 17 . . . Chicago Cubs already being plagued by a rash of minor injuries . . . Brooklyn World Series hero Johnny Podres said he has no idea when he'll be inducted into the service.

Sohio To Expand

CLEVELAND (AP)—Standard Oil Co. of Ohio will spend about $43 million for improvements this year, compared with $47,522,000 last year.

New York City had 68,500 marriages in 1955, 2 percent less than in 1954.

Miami Coach's Farewell Letter Is Received by Alumni Here

Ara Parseghian, who resigned as football coach at Miami University to take over the same position at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., has poured out his feelings about the change in a letter to former Miami athletes.

Just how many of the Miami alumni, who won their big block M for sports achievements in sports, here received his letter is not known. But among these men are Hugh B. Sollars, an outstanding track performer, of near Good Hope, V. F. (Chief) Crawford of near Jeffersonville who is one of the all time football greats of Miami, and Robert Lanum, Leesburg Avenue, a member of the track team.

Parseghian has a good many friends in and near Washington C. H. Mrs. Parseghian is a former Greenfield girl and he has been here more than once to play golf at the Country Club.

SOLLARS loaned Parseghian's letter to the Record-Herald. It follows in full:

"In the five years that I have been writing sportsletters this last one will be the most difficult. The greatest debt I owe is to Miami University. It has given me many things, starting with my undergraduate days and up through my coaching tenure. This is a farewell letter, as a coach of Miami football teams, but not as a loyal Miami alumnus. My heart will always be with the Redskins regardless of where I am. Leaving Miami was a very difficult decision for me to make. I weighed many things before I accepted the new assignment. It's not my intention to defend my decision because I'm sure all of you understand. I honestly believe that there is no one who will hate to leave Oxford any more than the Parseghian family. If I was the type of person that would not accept this new challenge then I wouldn't be worthy of the Miami job.

"It would be impossible for me to list all of the people I want to thank. There isn't enough stationery or time, but I hope this letter will help me tell you how much I appreciate everyone's help.

"Miami's selection of John Pont as head football coach is a very wise one. He is a very capable and deserving young man. You will all remember the difficulties I had my first year so don't expect miracles from John in '56 and '57. Give him an opportunity to organize his new staff and iron out the other many problems, and I'm sure he will raise Miami's football to even greater heights.

"Incidentally those of you who have been concerned when past coaching changes have been made needn't worry—there will be no players leaving Miami for other schools. All the recruiting data gathered thus far will be turned over to John and no films, projectors or anything else of that nature will leave the campus.

"When you are in the Chicago area, I will be greatly disappointed if you don't call or drop by for a visit. Remember, I'm coaching the Wildcats but I'm still a Redskin."

Lady Says House Broken Out Of

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP)—Police were confused when Mrs. Melvin Torstrick reported an intruder had broken out of her house, but she meant it. While upstairs, she heard a noise from the first floor. She called but got no answer. She checked, found no one, locked the front and back doors and returned upstairs. Then came a crash. The intruder had fled but the front door had been broken open.

Ohio 'Watch Dog' Committee Probes Ex-Publicity Expert

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio legislature "watch dog" committee has turned up some interesting facts about a former public relations consultant for the state department of mental hygiene and correction.

The consultant, J. Edward Farmer of Columbus, offered his services to a Cincinnati architectural firm awarded the contract for a three-million-dollar project at Longview State Hospital at Cincinnati, the committee learned Wednesday.

But, said Rep. Joseph E. Lady (R - Hardin) who disclosed the facts, the firm turned down Farmer's offer.

Lady said the information was given him and two other legislators by Russell S. Potter of the firm of Potter, Tyler, Martin and Roth, project architects. He named the other two lawmakers as State Sens. Raymond Hildebrand (R-Lucas) and Frank King (D-Lucas).

Dr. John D. Porterfield, state director of mental hygiene and correction, told the committee Farmer "in no way at all" helped recommend architects for state projects.

Farmer, head of Capital Services Associates, Columbus, was discharged from Porterfield's department last December on orders of Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The governor told newsmen he had read published reports of "influence peddling" on Farmer's part and that he would not tolerate irregularities.

Porterfield said he had recommended Dan Carmichael, Columbus architect for the Longview job, but he added he did not know at the time that Farmer was "on Carmichael's payroll."

The director also said he was unaware that Farmer was on the payroll of architects, including one firm working on the Marion Training School.

"It has been made to look bad, yes," said Porterfield.

1932 Governor's Action Said Void

COLUMBUS (AP) — An attorney general's ruling has declared void a certificate issued by the governor in 1932 purporting to restore the forfeited civil rights of a prisoner sentenced to life in Ohio Penitentiary.

The ruling said the certificate was not authorized by statute in the absence of a pardon or commutation of sentence.

The attorney general's office said the question arose because of claims by Russell Gotherman of Highland County that his civil rights had been restored.

Gotherman, who received a life sentence for second-degree murder, was paroled Nov. 2, 1931.

Wanted Driver Just Disappears

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP)—A motorist just disappeared after twice running a school stop sign but his car was really lost.

Police Chief George Adams said Hanson P. Clifford disregarded the sign twice within a few minutes. A police cruiser abandoned a chase when Clifford's auto suddenly disappeared at a bridge.

Clifford explained when he reported to Police Court, where he paid fines totaling $70: The car had plunged over an embankment at the bridge and overturned several times. Clifford suffered only minor injuries but the auto was called a total loss.

"ITS SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Free Enterprise Campaign Urged

CLEVELAND (AP)—Arch N. Booth of Washington, executive vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, says business and industry must "make the American people so enthusiastic about free enterprise that they will not be tempted to trade it for any phase of socialism, controlism or the welfare state."

He spoke yesterday at a Chamber of Commerce session devoted to developing a better understanding of the business system.

Jeff Drops Opener In Tourney, 83-38

Jeffersonville's cagers ran up against a big, fast Beaver five in the first round of their area tournament at Portsmouth Wednesday night, and they didn't survive the collision.

The Beaver boys wiped Jeff off the tourney slate by an 83-38 score. With their height advantage and dead-eye shooting accuracy, they scored almost every time they got the ball.

Jeff, on the other hand, just couldn't penetrate their tight zone defense. And when they shot from outside, they shot only once. Beaver controlled the backboards.

More than half the Beaver points were racked up by dazzling 6-foot-5 Compton. He scored on 16 field goals and 11 free throws for a 43-point total. The other 10 boys in the Beaver lineup scored 40 points.

Commenting on the phenomenal Compton, one Beaver fan said at half time (when the rangy cager had already scored 26 points- that he was having an off night. "He's missed three shots!" the rooter complained.

Top scorer for the Tigers was John Wright, who scored 15 points on 6 field goals and 3 free throws.

The loss marked the end of the tourney for the Jeff boys. Beaver will go on to play Fairland, another hot contender in the tourney.

Pro Cagers Vie For Playoff Spots

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle for the second and third playoff spots in the western division of the National Basketball Assn. apparently is going right down to the wire with St. Louis and Minneapolis holding an edge over Rochester as of today.

Minneapolis' Lakers moved into a tie for second place with the idle Hawks of St. Louis last night, by defeating Syracuse 98-94 while Rochester lost a chance to close in when the Royals dropped an 86-81 decision to Philadelphia. The Royals, with six games left, trail St. Louis and Minneapolis by only 1½ games but are behind four on the all important losing side.

Lopez Confident Of His 'Old Men'

The Indians manager referred to a crack by Casey Stengel, New York Yankee pilot, that the league champions were "much better off for pitchers than some other clubs that have old men back."

Except for Tommy Byrne, who came back last season at 35, the Yanks starters all are under 30.

Holman Winner In Rowan Bout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Big John Holman, a slow man in the ring but a fast climber recently in the heavyweight boxing ranks, overpowered Irish Joe Rowan of Philadelphia last night and looked forward to a bout with Tommy Hurricane Jackson.

"They promised to give us Jackson next," said Holman's manager Bernie Glickman, "and if we win that one we should be in line for a shot at the championship."

Ohio Woman Golfer Setting Hot Pace

Mrs. Emerson, from Dayton, Ohio, pulled the first surprise of the tournament yesterday when she ousted medalist Marge Burns of Greensboro, N. C., 2 and 1.

Bobbin' Robin Freeman Again All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—Dominated by big Bill Russell and little Robin Freeman, five seniors from San Francisco, Ohio State, Duquesne, Furman and Holy Cross were named today to the 1956 Associated Press collegiate all-American basketball team.

Selected with Russell and Freeman by a vote of 329 sportswriters and broadcasters were Sihugo (Si) Green of Duquesne, Darrell Floyd of Furman and Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross. Russell, Freeman and Floyd are repeaters from the 1955 all-America while Green moves up from the 1955 second team and Heinsohn from the 1955 third team.

The 6:10 Russell, who led the Don's enroute to their string of 48 straight victories, received 308 first team votes and seven 2nd team marks for a total of 1,554 points. Freeman, only 5:11 but one of the nation's best shooters, polled 233 first and 46 seconds for 1,257 points.

Green was third in the voting with 861 points on 153 firsts and 48 seconds followed by Floyd with 813 on 124-94 and Heinsohn with 624 on 98-82.

Ronnie Shavlik, North Carolina State star who fractured his wrist last Saturday; K. C. Jones, Russel's teammate at San Francisco; Rod (Hot Rod) Hundley of West Virginia; Len Rosenbluth of North Carolina and 7 ft. Bill Uhl of Dayton were picked as a second team.

George Washington's Joe Holup; Julius McCoy of Michigan State; Bill Ridley of Illinois; Bob Burrow of Kentucky and Willie Naulls of UCLA make up a third team.

Charley Tyra of Louisville; Paul Judson of Illinois; Hal Lear of Temple; Morris Taft of UCLA and Vic Molodet of North Carolina State head an honorable mention list of 21. The 15 on the first three teams will receive certificates from The Associated Press.

Others from the Midwest named to the honorable list included Terry Rand, Marquette; Gary Thompson, Iowa State, and Carl Cain and Bill Logan of Iowa.

The feats of Russell, known as the stuffer, are so well-known they hardly need any repeating. Virtually unknown a year ago he leaped into the limelight with his uncanny ability on the court to lead the Dons to the NCAA championship and their victory string of 48 straight. This year he has done even better.

The repeat selections of Freeman and Floyd, who have battled for the major college individual scoring lead all season, vindicates those who voted for them in 1955. They were regarded in some quarters as only "shooters." This year, as marked men, they did well under pressure.

After 4-Year Wait Thief Convicted

CLEVELAND (AP) — A car was stolen from in front of Central Police Station more than four years ago. Charles F. Fisher, 39, was convicted of the automobile theft yesterday. His original trial in common pleas court was postponed so he could visit his mother-in-law in Denmark.

When he came back to the United States, he settled in Los Angeles. An arrest order was issued recently and Fisher returned voluntarily. Sentence was withheld pending a probation report.

Tournament Game Won By WHS Junior Cagers

Taking a tip from their big brothers, the Lion Cubs of Washington C. H. Junior High School bounded to a decisive 48-15 win over Oak Hill Wednesday evening in the first round of the Junior tournament at Chillicothe.

With Ronnie Carter leading the scoring attack, popping in 8 field goals and 9 foul shots for a total of 26 points, the Cubs drove their way to their 13th win of the season. The Lion Cubs have lost only three games since the start.

The Oak Hill squad gave the Fayette County cagers a bit of trouble for the first half, keeping the score down to 6-3 in the first quarter and 15-9 in the second quarter, but the Cubs were out in front all the way.

In the third quarter the boys from Washington C. H. slapped their offense together, started working the fast break and began bombing the Oak Hill basket. Oak Hill did manage to get in four points in the third quarter and two in the last quarter.

On Friday the WHS lads will go back to the Chillicothe Central gym for the second round of the tournament. The squad from here will be meeting a Pike County team from Twin High School. Game time is 7 P. M.

AAU Denies It Profited Off Of Santee

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union, in meeting out a lifetime ban to miler Wes Santee, did not, as has been suggested, get rid of a goose which laid it some golden eggs.

Santee, for all his drawing power at the gate, represented exactly 50 cents a year to the AAU, no more. That's the price of registration.

So said Dan Ferris, AAU secretary-treasurer, today in lashing back at reports that the AAU had used the great Kansas miler to fatten its coffers and then suspended him on the matter of a couple of thousand dollars' extra expense money.

"We don't receive a penny from these various invitation track meets," Ferris said. "They are promoted privately. Our only connection with them is to see that the competitors meet amateur regulations."

Some 70,000 athletes fall under the AAU jurisdiction. Prime exceptions are golf and tennis, which have their own ruling bodies.

The AAU's functions, in a nutshell, are to make and enforce rules and sanction events under its jurisdiction.

The AAU serves as an international sanctioning agent for most sports and, as such, must approve athletes which carry U. S. colors in the Olympic games.

Redlegs Facing Same Old Problem

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, late starters in the business of baseball spring training, get underway today and it generally was agreed they face the same old problem—pitching.

Of course, if quantity has anything to do with it, Manager Birdie Tebbetts may solve the pitching problem this year. Eighteen of the 37 players on the training roster are hurlers.

Tebbetts has indicated he believes he can figure on Joe Nuxhall, Art Fowler and Johnny Klippstein as capable starters with Hershel Freeman as top relief.

Sale Of Indians Given Approval

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sale of the Cleveland Indians for $3,961,800 was approved last night by the baseball club's stockholders.

Formally ratifying action club directors took Feb. 14, the stockholders voted to sell at $1,550 a share to a new company headed by William R. Daley, 63, president of Otis & Co., an investment firm; Ignatius A. O'Shaugnessy of St. Paul, president of the Globe Oil Co. and Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager since 1950.

The deal represents a profit of around $3 million to holders who paid $100 a share for stock when Bill Veeck purchased the club 10 years ago.

Another Fan Loses Tooth

Washington C. H. High School maintenance men were a bit startled recently to discover a false tooth idly resting under the bleachers in the gym, apparently lost by some overly - excited spectator at a red-hot basketball game.

Announcement was made of the discovery.

A woman stopped at the high school. Said she was from Wilmington. Wanted to see the tooth.

"Sorry," said the lady, "that's not my tooth."

Chances Slim For Freeman To Top List

NEW YORK (AP) — Robin Freeman's chances of beating Furman's Darrell Floyd out of the major college individual basketball scoring championship are slim but the Ohio State all-America could well become the third highest point maker in history.

NCAA service bureau statistics, released today and including games through Feb. 27, show Floyd in first place with an average of 33.5 points per game on 872 in 26 games. Freeman has a 32.4 average with 647 markers in 20 contests.

Floyd has finished his regular season but has the possibility of playing from one to three more games in the Southern Conference tournament starting today. Freeman winds up his career against Michigan State on Saturday and Minnesota on Monday.

Freeman's 43 - point barrage against Illinois last week sent his average soaring to a position where he needs only to keep it to pass Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia in the all-time rankings. Wilkinson compiled a 32.1 point average to rank behind Frank Selvy former Furman ace, and Floyd.

Bill Von Weyhe of Rhode Island retained his free throw lead, when he made 10 of 10 last week to boost his percentage of .872. Tom Jorgensen of Michigan is second.

When Nick Altrock of the Washington Senators appeared as a pinch hitter in a game on Oct. 1, 1933, he was 57 years old.

Dayton Flyers Now Thankful They've Seen Last Of Green

(By The Associated Press)

Green, always at his best against tough opposition, staged a sensational shooting exhibition last night to lead his underdog Iron Dukes to a thrilling 87-86 upset victory over Dayton.

A repeat performance of Green's 40-point spree is possible, however, since Duquesne and Dayton could meet in the National Invitational Tournament.

It was Green's easy layup with 10 seconds remaining that turned the tide for the defending NIT champs. That put Duquesne ahead 87-84. Dayton's Don Lane dropped in a field goal as the buzzer sounded.

The third-ranked Flyers, who dropped their third game in 25 starts, were paced by 7-foot center Bill Uhl who rang up 30 points.

Dayton led 71-63 with the final period half gone, but the Dukes rallied, tying the score five times in the second half before clinching the contest.

At Oxford, Miami's Redskins held as much as a 21-point margin in the second half as they trounced the University of Cincinnati, 89-81.

Miami, ahead 47-34 at intermission, clicked off 10 quick points in the second half to take a 57-36 lead that decided the game.

Down Louisville way, two other NIT participants collided, with Louisville emerging an 83-70 winner over Xavier. The Cardinals thus avenged an earlier season 40-point trouncing by Xavier.

Louisville, leading 42-34 at the half, was paced by Phil Rollins and Jim Morgan, each of whom collected 22 points. Morgan, held to a mere two points in the opening period, broke up the game with an amazing jump shot exhibition. Frank Tartaron was high for Xavier with 20.

In loop affairs throughout Ohio, Ohio Wesleyan and Mount Union came out on top in Ohio Conference action—the Bishops rallying for a 78-77 victory over Heidelberg, and the Purple Raiders chalking up their 10th straight home court win, 81-57, over Wooster.

Ashland edged Bluffton, 62-61, in the Mid-Ohio League, Kent State ended its 10-11 season with a 93-91 Mid-American Conference victory over Bowling Green, and Case Tech surprised Akron, 77-62.

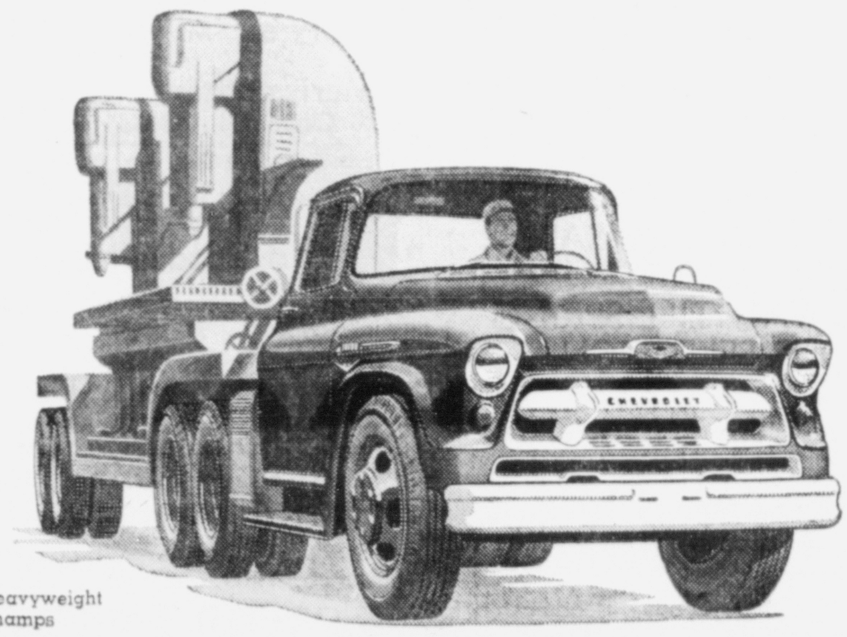

3,400 Quarters Reported Stolen

CINCINNATI (AP) — Somebody made way with 3,400 quarters yesterday, police were told. That's $850.

The quarters were in a bag and taken from a cigarette vending machine truck while the driver, Vic Aloisio, was removing coins from a machine in a tap room.

Aloisio said the enclosed truck was locked and it took a "master key" to open it.

$1 Million Fire Hits Middletown Tank Factory

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Flames, spreading quickly from a sudden "flash fire" wrecked the plant of the Prior Products Inc., here last night with a loss, estimated by plant manager Arthur J. Doyle, at a million dollars.

The plant is in the north part of Middletown at the edge of a residential section but the flames did not spread to any nearby homes and no one was injured.

Doyle said the cause of the fire was not determined but that there was a "flash fire."

Ohio 'Watch Dog' Committee Probes Ex-Publicity Expert

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio legislature "watch dog" committee has turned up some interesting facts about a former public relations consultant for the state department of mental hygiene and correction.

The consultant, J. Edward Farmer of Columbus, offered his services to a Cincinnati architectural firm awarded the contract for a three-million-dollar project at Longview State Hospital at Cincinnati, the committee learned Wednesday.

But, said Rep. Joseph E. Lady (R - Hardin) who disclosed the facts, the firm turned down Farmer's offer.

Lady said the information was given him and two other legislators by Russell S. Potter of the firm of Potter, Tyler, Martin and Roth, project architects. He named the other two lawmakers as State Sens. Raymond Hildebrand (R-Lucas) and Frank King (D-Lucas).

Dr. John D. Porterfield, state director of mental hygiene and correction, told the committee Farmer "in no way at all" helped recommend architects for state projects.

Farmer, head of Capital Services Associates, Columbus, was discharged from Porterfield's department last December on orders of Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The governor told newsmen he had read published reports of "influence peddling" on Farmer's part and that he would not tolerate irregularities.

Porterfield said he had recommended Dan Carmichael, Columbus architect for the Longview job, but he added he did not know at the time that Farmer was "on Carmichael's payroll."

The director also said he was unaware that Farmer was on the payroll of architects, including one firm working on the Marion Training School.

Didn't Farmer's eight - month tenure with the department "look bad"? asked Sen. Hildebrand.

"It has been made to look bad, yes," said Porterfield.

1932 Governor's Action Said Void

COLUMBUS (AP) — An attorney general's ruling has declared void a certificate issued by the governor in 1932 purporting to restore the forfeited civil rights of a prisoner sentenced to life in Ohio Penitentiary.

The ruling said the certificate was not authorized by statute in the absence of a pardon or commutation of sentence.

The attorney general's office said the question arose because of claims by Russell Gotherman of Highland County that his civil rights had been restored.

Gotherman, who received a life sentence for second-degree murder, was paroled Nov. 2, 1931.

Wanted Driver Just Disappears

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP)—A motorist just disappeared after twice running a school stop sign but his car was really lost.

Police Chief George Adams said Hanson P. Clifford disregarded the sign twice within a few minutes. A police cruiser abandoned a chase when Clifford's auto suddenly disappeared at a bridge.

Clifford explained when he reported to Police Court, where he paid fines totaling $70: The car had plunged over an embankment at the bridge and overturned several times. Clifford suffered only minor injuries but the auto was called a total loss.

Free Enterprise Campaign Urged

CLEVELAND (AP)—Arch N. Booth of Washington, executive vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, says business and industry must "make the American people so enthusiastic about free enterprise that they will not be tempted to trade it for any phase of socialism, controlism or the welfare state."

He spoke yesterday at a Chamber of Commerce session devoted to developing a better understanding of the business system.

Chest Program Set Up for Year

Planning Meeting Held on Wednesday

The Community Chest held its annual meeting Wednesday evening to outline the year's program of activities after a successful 1955 Red Feather campaign.

At the meeting of the organization which covers both Washington C. H. and Fayette County were the 15 directors and representative of participating agencies. The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Five new directors were elected for three year terms. They were Mrs. Robert Caldwell, Miss Louise Ritter, A. R. Hinchee, Dr. John Richards and H. F. Schlue.

Going into the financial details, Harlow broke down the receipts by division and areas for comparison with the 1954 campaign results.

* * *

THE NUMBER of contributors hit the highest total in the six years of Community Chest activity, Harlow said, with 2,915. Harlow gave credit for the record number of contributors to the door knockers and bell pushers, the people who did the actual house-to-house canvassing.

The campaign hit the goal this year nearly on the nose. With the goal set at $13,500 campaigners collected or received pledges for $13,525.58.

Of that amount, the nine participating agencies are to receive a total of $12,480 with the remainder to cover expenses and a small reserve for operating expenses during the year.

The representatives of the agencies gave a rundown on what was done in 1955 and, in most cases some general plans for 1956.

* * *

Associate County Agent Philip Grover reported on the 4-H Club Camp, Robert Craig outlined activities at the Millikin Avenue Public Park and Robert Olinger told of Salvation Army work.

The Chest secretary read a written report from the national USO office. There is no local representative of the USO.

Three of the agencies which took part in the campaign did not have representatives present at the meeting. These agencies were the Campfire Girls, Fayette County Mental Health Association and YWCA-T-Teens.

Harlow said the combined reports of the agencies indicate virtually every resident in Fayette County is served, directly or indirectly, by agencies within the Community Chest.

Two From Here At Scout Planning Meet

B. M. Marlin, Fayette District Scout-O-Rama chairman and Bob Poppen, Scout executive here, took part Wednesday evening in a meeting of the Central Council committee on Scout-O-Rama. The meeting was held in Columbus.

This was the final session before the Scout-O-Rama goes on in the Ohio State Fairgrounds March 17 and 18.

Marlin told the group that nine Fayette County units would be participating in the Scout-O-Rama, eight in the arena show and one with a booth demonstration.

As part of the Fayette County Scout-O-Rama activity an advancement recognition service will be held, honoring at least two Scout units here for outstanding achievement as far as individual and group advancement is concerned.

The two - day session will be held in the Merchants and Manufacturers' building.

The Arena show will include three band concerts and four arena displays, two Saturday afternoon, one Saturday evening and one Sunday afternoon.

The Columbus officials stated that 4,000 to 5,000 boys were expected to take part.

19 Boys Grabbed For Shoplifting

CANTON (AP)—The arrest of 19 boy shoplifters, some of whom were dressed from head to toe in stolen clothing, has been revealed by Capt. Frank Bors Jr. of the Child Welfare Bureau.

Bors said the boys, ranging in age from 11 to 17, admitted they stole from every department store in Canton, then shifted their activities to Massillon "because all the local merchants knew us and would kick us out as soon as we got into the store."

Seven were put in the detention home as ringleaders. The others were cited to juvenile court and released to their parents.

Football Movie To Be Shown

A motion picture about professional football's most outstanding team is to be shown in two different places and to two different groups here this weekend.

The film, entitled "Ten Years with the Cleveland Browns," will be shown to the public without charge at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. Colman's Hall. Entrance to the hall is on South North Street.

The movie has just been completed and this is the first time for an official showing outside the Cleveland area.

The picture is a review of the 10 years the Browns have been a professional football team. It is a compilation of the most exciting plays since 1946.

Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church here, is not only the chaplain of the Browns but the close personal friend of Coach Paul Brown and the athletes who make up the Browns' football squad. It was largely through this close association of Father Connelly and the Browns that paved the way for the showing of the movie here.

* * *

Miss Anna Passmore Is Called by Death

Miss Anna Passmore, 86, a native and lifelong resident of Washington C. H., died at 6 P. M. Wednesday in Memorial Hospital here where she had been a patient for the last four days.

Miss Passmore led a quiet life, but had been very much a part of the business scene here for many years through her association with the Fayette Credit Bureau. She had retired several years ago, however, and spent most of her time at her home, 204 Ogle Street.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, its Missionary Guild and the Charlotte Tuttle Sisterhood Bible class and was a loyal worker in the affairs of all three as long as her health permitted.

She is the last of one of the county's prominent pioneer families. Her closest surviving relative is John Passmore, a first cousin. She also leaves several more distant relatives, however.

Funeral services are to be held at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here at 2 P. M. Saturday, with Rev. Harold Braden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment is to be in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 P. M. Thursday.

Future Teachers Hear Miss Stecher

Miss Ruth Stecher, seventh grade English teacher in Washington C. H., spoke on "The Human Touch" at a meeting of the Washington C. H. High School Future Teachers of America.

The group made plans to meet March 5 with the Library Club Joan Williamson, president of the group, conducted the meeting and announced that a member who missed two meetings without an excuse would be automatically dropped from the club.

Mrs. Jane Grillot is advisor.

Grange Plans Several Events

Juvenile Grange Is Started By Group

A number of events coming up in the near and no-so-near future were discussed and planned at a meeting Wednesday night of the Madison Good Will Grange, held in the Grange Hall.

A large crowd of about 47 Grangers turned out to discuss a juvenile grange, card party, coffee-cake contest and lunch at the Land Race Hog Sale.

Mrs. Harold King was named matron of the new juvenile grange. She will be assisted by Mrs. Eli Craig, Mrs. Harold Kneisley, Mrs. Eugene Grim and Mrs. Glenn Earl Davis, Jr. The group will do the work of organizing and running the new youth group.

The members completed plans for a card party March 15 and discussed the coffee-cake contest for all Granges in Fayette County, to be held at the Corn Show March 22.

The group was shown a film, "Let's explore Ohio," showing points of interest throughout Ohio including beauty spots and major cities.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Dwight King and Mr. and Mrs. Omar Rapp.

Drunken Drivers Gets Off Easy

Escapes Usual Fine In Local Court

William Howard Looney, 38, city, up the second time within six months for driving while drunk and for driving under suspension, and also having insufficient brakes was found guilty by Acting Judge F. Scott Zimmerman, on the driving while drunk charge, but escaped the usua fine of $200 and costs.

He was fined the costs, suspended from driving for one year and sentenced to serve week - ends in jail until 10 days is served.

On the charge of driving while his license was revoked, he was found not guilty, and was fined $5 and costs on the charge of having insufficient brakes.

So far as recalled here it is the first instance in municipal court where a driver, after once having been convicted of driving while drunk, and found guilty on a second charge of the same kind, has escaped without a considerable fine, usually $200 and costs.

At the same session of court Zimmerman, who is on the bench in the absence of Judge Max G. Dice, fined George Little $50 and costs and suspended $40, for displaying fictitious license numbers.

$1 Million Fire Hits Middletown Tank Factory

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Flames, spreading quickly from a sudden "flash fire" wrecked the plant of the Prior Products Inc., here last night with a loss, estimated by plant manager Arthur J. Doyle, at a million dollars.

The company manufactures truck gasoline tanks, auxiliary fuel tanks and other automobile equipment. It has headquarters at Dallas, Tex.

The plant is in the north part of Middletown at the edge of a residential section but the flames did not spread to any nearby homes and no one was injured.

Doyle said the cause of the fire was not determined but that there was a "flash fire."

Chest Program Set Up for Year

Planning Meeting Held on Wednesday

The Community Chest held its annual meeting Wednesday evening to outline the year's program of activities after a successful 1955 Red Feather campaign.

At the meeting of the organization which covers both Washington C. H. and Fayette County were the 15 directors and representative.. of participating agencies. The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Five new directors were elected for three year terms. They were Mrs. Robert Caldwell, Miss Louise Ritter, A. R. Hinchee, Dr. John Richards and H. F. Schlue.

Donald R. Murdock, the president, presided at the meeting. Perse Harlow, chest secretary, gave a run-down on the results of the campaign in October.

Going into the financial details, Harlow broke down the receipts by division and areas for comparison with the 1954 campaign results.

* * *

THE NUMBER of contributors hit the highest total in the six years of Community Chest activity, Harlow said, with 2,915. Harlow gave credit for the record number of contributors to the door knockers and bell pushers, the people who did the actual house-to-house canvassing.

The campaign hit the goal this year nearly on the nose. With the goal set at $13,500 campaigners collected or received pledges for $13,525.58.

Of that amount, the nine participating agencies are to receive a total of $12,480 with the remainder to cover expenses and a small reserve for operating expenses during the year.

The representatives of the agencies gave a rundown on what was done in 1955 and, in most cases some general plans for 1956.

* * *

Associate County Agent Philip Grover reported on the 4-H Club Camp, Robert Craig outlined activities at the Millikin Avenue Public Park and Robert Olinger told of Salvation Army work.

The Chest secretary read a written report from the national USO office. There is no local representative of the USO.

Three of the agencies which took part in the campaign did not have representatives present at the meeting. These agencies were the Campfire Girls, Fayette County Mental Health Association and YWCA-T-Teens.

Harlow said the combined reports of the agencies indicate virtually every resident in Fayette County is served, directly or indirectly, by agencies within the Community Chest.

Two From Here At Scout Planning Meet

B. M. Marlin, Fayette District Scout-O-Rama chairman and Bob Poppen, Scout executive here, took part Wednesday evening in a meeting of the Central Council committee on Scout-O-Rama. The meeting was held in Columbus.

This was the final session before the Scout-O-Rama goes on in the Ohio State Fairgrounds March 17 and 18.

Marlin told the group that nine Fayette County units would be participating in the Scout-O-Rama, eight in the arena show and one with a booth demonstration.

Tickets have been distributed and ticket sales begun here, he told the group.

As part of the Fayette County Scout-O-Rama activity an advancement recognition service will be held, honoring at least two Scout units here for outstanding achievement as far as individual and group advancement is concerned.

The two - day session will be held in the Merchants and Manufacturers' building.

The Arena show will include three band concerts and four arena displays, two Saturday afternoon, one Saturday evening and one Sunday afternoon.

The Columbus officials stated that 4,000 to 5,000 boys were expected to take part.

19 Boys Grabbed For Shoplifting

CANTON (AP)—The arrest of 19 boy shoplifters, some of whom were dressed from head to toe in stolen clothing, has been revealed by Capt. Frank Bors Jr. of the Child Welfare Bureau.

Bors said the boys, ranging in age from 11 to 17, admitted they stole from every department store in Canton, then shifted their activities to Massillon "because all the local merchants knew us and would kick us out as soon as we got into the store."

Seven were put in the detention home as ringleaders. The others were cited to juvenile court and released to their parents.

Football Movie To Be Shown

A motion picture about professional football's most outstanding team is to be shown in two different places and to two different groups here this weekend.

The film, entitled "Ten Years with the Cleveland Browns," will be shown to the public without charge at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. Colman's Hall. Entrance to the hall is on South North Street.

The picture is a review of the 10 years the Browns have been a professional football team. It is a compilation of the most exciting plays since 1946.

Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church here, is not only the chaplain of the Browns but the close personal friend of Coach Paul Brown and the athletes who make up the Browns' football squad. It was largely through this close association of Father Connelly and the Browns that paved the way for the showing of the movie here.
